BAYLOR RETURNS HOME FOR KEY GAME AGAINST NEBRASKA

After three straight road games, Baylor returns to the friendly confines of Floyd Casey Stadium for its first home game in more than a month tonight, hosting Nebraska for a Big 12 Conference inter-division game.Baylor's 1980 Southwest Conference Championship team will be honored at halftime. Former Baylor linebacker and NFL Hall of Famer Mike Singletary will be the Legend of the Game.

The Bears (4-1, 1-1) posted the program's first Big 12 road victory last week, winning 23-13 at Iowa State. That same afternoon, the Huskers (4-1, 1-1) dropped a 34-31 decision at home against Texas Tech.

While this is Baylor's first home game since Sept. 10 and only the Bears second home game of the season, Nebraska plays its first road game of the season Saturday after opening the year with five consecutive home games.

BAYLOR-NEBRASKA SERIES

Saturday is the 10th meeting between Baylor and Nebraska in football, the sixth as Big 12 Conference opponents. The first meeting was a 20-0 Nebraska victory at Lincoln in 1939. The teams also met as non-conference opponents in 1956 (Baylor 26-7 at Lincoln), 1977 (Nebraska 31-10 at Lincoln) and 1990 (Nebraska 13-0 at Lincoln).

In five meetings as Big 12 foes, Nebraska has out-scored Baylor 264-55, scoring 48 or more points in every contest. However, last season, the Bears scored nearly as many points (27) as they had in four previous Big 12 meetings with Nebraska (28). Saturday's game marks the only the third time in the series history that Baylor has faced an unranked Nebraska squad. In fact, Nebraska has been ranked 14th or better in six of the previous seven meetings, including the Huskers being ranked in the top 10 five of the last six meetings.

SERIES NOTES: Nebraska tallied 641 rushing yards against the Bears in 2001. That total is the most rushing yards ever against a Baylor squad and the second-best rushing day in Nebraska history. The Huskers toted the ball 73 times that day, attempting just nine passes. ... Two of the five highest total offense outputs surrendered by Baylor were against Nebraska (688 in 2001 and 669 in 1996). ... The 1990 Baylor-Nebraska game featured just 16 passes, eight by each team. Nebraska out-gained the Bears 335-164 in total offense that day, but the game was not put away until a Huskers' TD with 22 seconds left. ... George Sauer, who led Baylor to a 38-21-3 record from 1950 to 1955, was an All-America fullback at Nebraska.

BEARS GARNER VOTE IN AP TOP 25

Following last week's 23-13 victory at Iowa State, Baylor received one vote in this week's Associated Press Top 25. It marks the first time the Bears have received a vote in the national poll since the Sept. 20, 1998, rankings, which followed Baylor's 33-30 victory over 20th-ranked North Carolina State.

HAVENS EARNS BIG 12 CONFERENCE WEEKLY HONOR

PK Ryan Havens was named Big 12 Conference Special Teams Player of the Week, the league office announced Monday morning. Havens, a junior from Permian High School in Odessa, Texas, made good on all three field goal attempts, establishing a career high, and both extra point attempts in Baylor's 23-13 victory at Iowa State, the Bears' first ever Big 12 road win. Included in his three field goals was a career-long 49-yarder, the longest field goal at Baylor since 2001. Of Havens' six kickoffs, four went for touchbacks, and Iowa State's average starting field position after Baylor kickoffs was its own 22 yard line.

Through five games, Havens has connected on 11 of 15 field goal attempts (73.3 percent) and all 13 extra point attempts. Havens already is tied for ninth on Baylor's single-season field goals made list and needs just seven more to match Jeff Ireland's school record of 18 set in 1989.

MORRISS REACHES 10-WIN PLATEAU

Last Saturday's 23-13 victory at Iowa State was the 10th in head coach Guy Morriss' tenure at Baylor. Morriss reached the 10-win plateau in 28 games with the Bears. He is the first Baylor coach to reach 10 wins with the Bears since Chuck Reedy, who amassed 23 wins in four seasons at Baylor.

BEARS AIM FOR FIRST FIVE-WIN SEASON IN A DECADE

Baylor enters Saturday's game at 4-1 on the season, the first four-win season at Baylor since the 1996 team finished 4-7. A win against Nebraska would give the Bears their first five-win season since going 7-4 in 1995. Since 1996, Baylor has finished with three wins four times, two wins three times and one win once.

OKLAHOMA GAME TIME SET

Baylor's Oct. 22 game at Oklahoma has been set for a 6 p.m. CDT kickoff at Memorial Stadium in Norman, Okla. The game will be televised live nationally on Fox Sports Net.

BAYLOR vs. BIG 12 NORTH

Nearly all of Baylor's success in the Big 12 Conference has come against teams from the North Division. The Bears are 5-22 against teams from the North with only two victories (Texas, 1997; Texas A&M, 2004) against teams from the South. Baylor's victories against North teams are as follows: Iowa State (1996), Kansas (1998), Kansas (2002), Colorado (2003), Iowa State (2005).

WHAT TO WATCH FOR ...

- Baylor looks to post consecutive conference wins for the first time since 1995 when the Bears defeated SMU and Rice in successive weeks as members of the Southwest Conference. That also is the last time Baylor won two conference games in one season.
- Baylor already has forced more turnovers through five games this season (12) as through 11 games last season (nine). The 2004 Bears recovered five fumbles and snagged four interceptions. This season, the Bears have recovered five fumbles and picked seven passes.
- WR Trent Shelton has at least one reception in 27 consecutive games, tied for the 12th-longest active streak in Division I-A and the longest at Baylor since Reggie Newhouse's school-record 34-game streak.
- With 81 career receptions each, Shelton and junior WR Dominique Zeigler are tied for 13th on Baylor's all-time career receptions list.
- QB Shawn Bell needs 217 yards passing to move into 15th place on Baylor's career yards passing list.
- Junior RB Paul Mosley and sophomore RB Brandon Whitaker have combined for 171 touches this season without a fumble.
- Baylor is 7-2 under Morriss when scoring at least 24 points and 7-1 when holding the opponent under 20 points.
- Baylor's defense has held its opponent to fewer than 20 points in four straight games for the first time since 1986. The last time Baylor held five consecutive opponents under 20 points in one season was a six-game run to end the 1972 season, Grant Teaff's first season at Baylor.
- Baylor's defense has allowed 23 or fewer points in five straight games to open a season for the first time since 1991 when it held its first six opponents to 23 or fewer points.

OTHER NOTES: In 1955, Baylor limited 12th-ranked Washington to 154 yards of total offense, including just 42 yards through the air. ... The Bears' defense again was strong in 1960, holding Texas A&M to 179 yards of total offense, all rushing. The Aggies were 0-of-8 passing with one interception. That was the third of three consecutive games and the fourth in a five-game span in which Baylor held its opponent to fewer than 200 yards of total offense. It also was one of eight games that season in which the Bears held their opponent to fewer than 85 yards passing. ... The 1983 game against Texas A&M was Baylor's first of four games all-time televised on Atlanta, Ga., based cable network TBS. ... The 1983 game featured Ben Perry's 52-yard field goal, still tied for the ninth-longest field goal in Baylor history.

A GOLDEN TEAM

1980 BEARS
SWC Champions

by CARROLL FADAL

Grant TEAFF

Mike SINGLETARY

Ask any longtime Baylor fan which team was the best in school history, and, depending on the fan's age, you likely will get one of four answers.

Many senior fans will be quick to tout the 1956 team that went 9-2 and won its last five games, including a 13-7 triumph over Johnny Majors and second-ranked Tennessee in the Sugar Bowl.

Fans across the age spectrum might point to the 1963 team that, behind the lethal passing duo of Don Trull and Lawrence Elkins, came within a Duke Carlile interception of an undefeated conference campaign that would have included a win over eventual national champion Texas. That John Bridgers-coached squad wound up 8-3, including a 14-7 win over LSU in the Bluebonnet Bowl.

Middle-aged Bear-backers surely will name the 1974 team as best of all time. Led by Neal Jeffrey, Derrel Luce, Steve Beaird, Ron Burns, Gary Green and a host of others, that squad won the school's first conference championship in 50 years, went to the Cotton Bowl for the first time ever and turned head coach Grant Teaff into a national icon.

But when it comes to talent, statistics; and, most importantly, the scoreboard, it's the 1980 team that stands above the rest. All that group of Bears did was go 10-2, win the SWC by a whopping three full games, lead the conference in total offense and total defense and send a slew of Bears to the NFL, where they brought even more fame to Baylor.

"We had such a good, balanced team," said Teaff, now executive director of the American Football Coaches Association. "I've looked at a lot of games prior to that team and after that team, and that was as good a team as anyone would want to put on the field. They had good leadership, cohesiveness and a chemistry that bound them all together."

Win they did. Starting with a 42-7 thrashing of Lamar in Beaumont and including a 46-7 win over Texas A&M at College Station and a thrilling come-from-behind 32-28 triumph over then-No. 20 SMU, the 1980 Bears raced out to a 7-0 start and a No. 5 national ranking before losing, unbelievably, to unranked and unheralded San Jose State 30-22 in Waco.

A lesser Baylor team might have caved in at that point but not the 1980 Bears. Led by such stalwarts as linebacker Mike Singletary, running backs Walter Abercrombie and Dennis Gentry, quarterback Jay Jeffrey and guard Frank Ditta, the Bears followed the lead of a beloved former teammate and found themselves a purpose and a motto.

"The moment I think anyone would say was a defining moment, not only for a football team; but for their lives, was in the dressing room before the Arkansas game," Teaff said. "We had lost to San Jose State the week before when we were No. 5 in the nation, and there was that cloud of doubt hanging over our team. I could tell the lights were on but nobody was home. I brought Kyle Woods down from Dallas; it was the first time he'd been on campus, the first time he'd been in the dressing room since he got hurt."

Woods, a defensive back, was paralyzed from the neck down when he hit a teammate in a 1978 practice and remains in a wheelchair.

"I asked him if he wanted to say something," Teaff said. "He was in his wheelchair, and he said, 'Guys, you've got to take a setback and turn it into a comeback;' and, to top it all off, and I think this is the moment that is etched in everyone's mind, he stood up. We don't know how he did it and hasn't done it since to my knowledge. I remember Mike Fisher, one of our tight ends, reached over to steady him. That was the exclamation point for what he said. Poor Lou Holtz and Arkansas didn't have a prayer that day."

Indeed, the Bears thrashed the perennially powerful Razorbacks, 42-15, on ABC regional television and wrapped up the season with a 16-6 win at Rice and a dominating, 16-0 shutout of No. 20 Texas on a drizzly day in Waco to finish the regular season at 10-1. Those 10 wins still rank as the most in school history. A 30-2 loss to Alabama in the Cotton Bowl did nothing to tarnish the team's reputation.

The Arkansas win after the heartbreak of San Jose State also ranked high for Abercrombie, the school's all-time leading rusher with 3,665 yards and now an Associate Athletics Director at Baylor in charge of the "B" Association for Baylor letter-winners. That season, Abercrombie, the Waco University High School graduate, rushed for an SWC-best 1,187 yards, still the single-season school record.

"My favorite memory would probably be playing Arkansas here, on television, and beating them pretty handily," Abercrombie said. "That probably was my best memory of the 1980 season. Obviously, beating Texas A&M up there was another good memory. And beating Texas at home; that was the only shutout that we had that season, and we were able to score 16 points on them. It was a tough game. But we could have played all day and all night, and I don't think they would have scored on us."

To be sure, the 1980 Bears were salty on defense, led by the intrepid Singletary and his linebacking cohorts Lester Ward and Doak Field, head-hunting safety Vann McElroy and defensive end Charles Benson. Singletary, named Southwest Conference Player of the Decade for the 1980's and SWC Most Valuable Player in 1979 and 1980, has the Baylor career record with 662 tackles. To understand the significance of that number, consider that the man in the No. 2 position, Ray Berry, had 380 tackles. In 1980, Singletary led the team with 145 tackles. He was named to All-America teams in 1978, 1979 and 1980 before having a Hall-of-Fame NFL career with the Chicago Bears.

McElroy, along with fellow free safety Mike Welch (1986-1990), is Baylor's all-time interceptions leader with 16; an NCAA-best eight of those came in 1980. McElroy went on to a pro-bowl career with the NFL's Oakland/Los Angeles Raiders. Benson is the school's all-time leaders in tackles for loss with 49. As a team, Baylor led the SWC in rushing defense (105.5 yards per game), scoring defense (11.7 points per game) and total defense (266.5 yards per game) and registered a school-record five safeties.

As good as they were on defense, the Bears were equally effective on offense. Abercrombie and Gentry combined for nearly 2,000 yards (Gentry had 883 on only 147 carries, a 6.01-yards-per carry average) running the Jeffrey-piloted veer offense.

"A lot of people considered Dennis and me the best one-two punch in the league at the time," Abercrombie said. "I keep thinking about how talented Dennis was; teams would try to key on me and that's when Dennis would just go nuts. You couldn't really key on me because he was so dangerous. It's rare when you have two backs in the same backfield who are both capable of taking it the distance and both are equally good blockers."

He could have added that they were good pass receivers as well. Both used the skills they learned at Baylor to have solid pro careers, Abercrombie with the Steelers and Eagles after being Pittsburgh's first-round draft choice in 1982 and Gentry, now a scout with the Detroit Lions, as a wide receiver and kick-returner with the 1985 world champion Bears. Abercrombie led the SWC in rushing with 1,187 yards in 1980 and the team also led the league with 296.9 rushing yards a game, 440.7 total yards a game and 28.6 points a game.

A whopping 12 players from the 1980 team were named all-conference: Abercrombie, Benson, defensive tackle Joe Campbell, Ditta, Field, Fisher, Gentry, Jeffrey, McElroy, defensive end Max McGeary, Singletary and defensive tackle Tommy Tabor.

"I think we were probably a bunch of overachievers," Abercrombie said. "I think Coach Teaff did a great job of recruiting players that he then developed into a very good football team."

You won't get any argument about that from any age group of Baylor fans.

This is Baylor University

Chartered in 1845 by the Republic of Texas through the efforts of Baptist pioneers, Baylor is Texas' oldest institution of higher education and is affiliated with the Baptist General Convention of Texas. The 735-acre Baylor campus is located on the banks of the Brazos River in Waco, Texas, a metropolitan area of 213,000 people.

While remaining true to its heritage, Baylor has grown to almost 14,000 students, who come from all 50 states and some 70 countries. Students may choose from among 146 undergraduate, 73 master's, 22 doctoral and 4 professional degree programs and become involved in one or more of the 300 student organizations on campus.

Baylor 2012, the University's 10-year Vision, addresses every facet of campus life with its goal to place Baylor in the top tier of American universities and strengthen its distinctive Christian mission. Baylor 2012 already benefits students by bringing increased numbers of experienced faculty to campus, increasing funds available for scholarships and other financial aid and providing for construction of new facilities such as the Baylor Sciences Building, the North Village Residential Community and the Jeanes Discovery Center of the Mayborn Museum Complex.

Baylor encourages the examination of important issues by sponsoring a distinguished roster of campus speakers including Nobel Prize winners Archbishop Desmond Tutu, Oscar Arias Sanchez and Czeslaw Milosz, world leaders such as former British prime minister Margaret Thatcher and authors David McCullough, John Grisham, John Updike and Ernest Gaines.

The University consists of 11 academic units: College of Arts and Sciences, Hankamer School of Business, School of Education, School of Engineering and Computer Science, School of Music, School of Social Work, Honors College, Louise Herrington School of Nursing, School of Law, George W. Truett Theological Seminary, and Graduate School. Baylor also offers affiliated graduate degree programs with the U.S. Army Academy of Health Sciences in San Antonio and West Point.

He joined Baylor's Department of Religion faculty in 1983. In 1990 he became the first holder of The George W. Truett Chair in Evangelism, and in 1993 he was appointed the founding dean of George W. Truett Theological Seminary. He became Baylor's president in 1995 and chancellor in 2005.

Dr. Sloan has held positions as pastor or interim pastor at more than 20 churches in Texas, Oklahoma, New Jersey, and Germany. He is a member of the Institute for Biblical Research and the Studiorum Novi Testamenti Societas. He has authored two books and published more than 50 articles and chapters in books. Dr. Sloan, who chaired the Big 12 Board of Directors from 2000-2002, served as a spokesperson for a group of six major college athletic conferences. He is on the Cooper Foundation Board, the Board of Trustees for the Baylor College of Medicine, and the Tadpole Foundation Board of Directors. He was inducted into the Little League Hall of Excellence in 1996 and was named a Baylor Distinguished Alumnus in 2000.

He is married to the former Sue Collier (BA '70) of Cisco, Texas, and they are members of Columbus Avenue Baptist Church of Waco. They have seven children: Charissa (BA '95, MA '96, JD '99), Bryan (BA '98), Eraina (BA '99, MSEd and MDiv '02), Michael (BA '02, Texas Tech MA '04), Alathea (BA '03), Sophia (a Baylor senior), and Paul (a Baylor freshman).

Herbert H. Reynolds, President Emeritus

Dr. Herbert H. Reynolds earned a bachelor of science degree from Trinity University and earned the MS and the PhD degrees from Baylor and is a member of Phi Beta Kappa. He has been recognized as a distinguished alumnus of both Trinity and Baylor and holds honorary doctoral degrees from the Baylor College of Dentistry, Seinan Gakuin University in Japan, and Yonok College in Thailand.

He became Baylor's president emeritus June 1, 2000. This came after serving the University from June 1995 as chancellor, in addition to 14 years as president (1981-95) and 12 years as executive vice president (1969-81). He is an emeritus tenured university professorship of psychology, management, and higher education. From 1994-97 he was a visiting scholar/fellow at Cambridge University. He also served from 1948-68 in the U.S. Air Force, principally as director of research of a biomedical laboratory.

Dr. Reynolds is a deacon at First Baptist Church of Waco and is a director of Community Bank and Trust of Waco. He is listed in Who's Who in America, American Men and Women of Science, Who's Who in Education, and Who's Who in the Southwest. He has authored some 50 publications, has served on numerous boards and committees, and has received multiple honors and awards.

He and his wife, Joy (BA '74), have three children: Kevin (BA '74, JD '76), Kent (BBA '75, MBA '76), and Rhonda (BA '83, MBA '83, JD '86). They also have two daughters-in-law, Katy (BSEd '76) and Cathy, a son-in-law, Greg Winslett, and seven grandchildren, Jonathan, Melinda, Sam, Nicole, Jake, Trey, and Dylan. The Reynolds have been married 55 years.

R. Kimberly Gaynor, Interim Vice President for University Relations

Mr. R. Kimberly Gaynor earned a bachelor of business administration in marketing and finance in 1966 from the University of Texas at Austin, where he was a member of the 1963 national championship football team.

He began his career in 1967 in Cincinnati with Procter & Gamble Co. Two years later, he joined Foote, Cone & Belding Advertising in Los Angeles as assistant to the chairman. He rose to management supervisor and vice president, where he successfully guided the agency's largest account, Mazda Motors of America. From 1975-82, he was senior vice president and director of client services for McCann Erickson Advertising in Houston. He returned to Austin in 1982 and spent the next five years as executive vice president and agency principal with GSD&M Advertising, helping it become one of the fastest growing ad agencies in America.

In 1987, Mr. Gaynor joined Bozell/Dallas as executive vice president, chairman of the executive committee and director of client services. Three years later, he assumed leadership of Bozell's office in Detroit as executive vice president and general manager. He served as president of Chrysler Team USA and executive vice president of DaimlerChrysler USA and Mexico. During his decade of managing the Chrysler and DaimlerChrysler accounts, Bozell/Detroit became the premier office of Bozell Worldwide and its successor, FCB Worldwide, by developing relationships with dealer networks that have become a benchmark of excellence at Chrysler and in the automotive industry.

His wife, Brenda, is a Baylor graduate. They have two children: Brandon, a Baylor senior, and Morgan, a sixth grader.

Ian McCaw, Director of Athletics

Mr. Ian McCaw, who became Baylor University's ninth athletic director Sept. 8, 2003, earned his master's degree in sport management from the University of Massachusetts in 1987, after receiving a bachelor's degree in sports administration at Laurentian University in Sudbury, Ontario, in 1985.

He comes to Baylor from UMass, where he was athletic director. He was responsible for a 23-sport program and helped develop and implement a five-year strategic plan for UMass athletics aimed at enhancing equity, diversity, compliance and facility improvements. In his one season, UMass captured Atlantic 10 championships in men's soccer, men's swimming and softball, the football team finished among the I-AA Top-20, and the men's lacrosse and softball programs advanced to NCAA post-season play. Also, a Minuteman identity system and branding initiative was implemented.

From 1997-2002, he was director of intercollegiate athletics and campus recreation at Northeastern University. He reorganized the athletic department and oversaw the development and implementation of a five-year strategic plan. Husky teams were required to participate in at least one community service project annually.

He chaired the 2002-2003 NCAA Division I men's ice hockey committee. He also served on the Atlantic 10 Football, Hockey East and National Consortium for Academics and Sports executive committees. He has served on committees for the America East championships, gender equity, men's basketball, sporting conduct and baseball.

He and his wife, Heather, have four children: Christy, Paul, Callie, and Corinne.

Michael D. Morrison, Chief of Staff to the President and The William J. Boswell Professor of Law

Mr. Mike Morrison practiced law in Kansas and was in the administration of the University of Oklahoma College of Law before beginning to teach at Baylor in 1977. He holds The William Boswell Chair of Law and was designated as an Outstanding Professor (1997) by Baylor University.

Professor Morrison writes and speaks extensively on a wide range of topics including redistricting and voting rights where he is a recognized expert and has represented cities, counties and school districts throughout Texas and Arkansas for more than 25 years. His writing has received awards including the Texas Bar Foundation's Outstanding Journal Article Award.

He was elected to Phi Beta Kappa at the University of Oklahoma where he earned a BA in psychology (1971) with high honors. He received his JD from Oklahoma (1974) and he was chosen as the Outstanding Law Student for 1974 by the Oklahoma Bar Association. He served as note editor of the Oklahoma Law Review and was elected to membership in the Order of the Coif.

Professor Morrison is admitted to practice in Oklahoma, Kansas, and Texas as well as the United States Supreme Court and the federal courts of Texas and Oklahoma. He has been recognized by his peers with election as a fellow of both the Texas and the American Bar Foundations.

He served as Mayor of Waco from 1996 to 2000 and continues to be involved in civic and community affairs. He is a member and ordained elder of First Presbyterian Church of Waco.

J. Randall O'Brien, Interim Provost and Chair, Department of Religion

Dr. J. Randall O'Brien earned degrees from Mississippi College, Yale Divinity School, and New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary.

A member of the Baylor religion faculty since 1991, he has served Baylor in several positions, including professor and chair of the religion department, visiting professor in the Baylor Law School, acting dean of the George W. Truett Theological Seminary at Baylor, as executive assistant to the Baylor president, and as chaplain to the baseball team.

His numerous teaching awards at Baylor include the Mortar Board Circle of Achievement Award, the Carr P. Collins Outstanding Professor Award, the Gamma Beta Phi Honor Society Outstanding Professor Award, and the Outstanding Faculty Member Award presented by the Student Congress.

Dr. O'Brien has published more than 70 articles in journals such as Christian Ethics Today, The Theological Educator, The Biblical Illustrator, Christian Reflection, Perspectives in Religious Studies, and multiple Bible encyclopedias. His books include, Who Is Jesus?, The Mosaic Messiah, I Feel Better All Over Than I Do Anywhere Else (And Other Stories to Tickle Your Soul), and Set Free by Forgiveness: The Way to Peace and Healing.

He is a decorated military veteran, having served with the 101st Airborne Division in Vietnam.

He and his wife, Kay, a lecturer in Baylor's School of Social Work, are members of Calvary Baptist Church. They have three children: two daughters, Elise (married) and Shannon, and a son, Christopher.

Samuel W. "Dub" Oliver, Interim Vice President for Student Life

Dr. Samuel W. "Dub" Oliver became interim vice president for student life on July 1, 2005.

As interim vice president, he will provide leadership for the student life division, including the areas of campus life, residence life, student development, and university ministries.

Dr. Oliver earned a bachelor's degree in education from Baylor in 1987, a master's degree in educational psychology in 1991 and a doctorate in educational administration in 2001, both from Texas A&M University. He joined Baylor as director of student activities in 1992 and became dean for student development in 2001. As dean, he has been responsible for several areas of student life, including student activities (Greek life, multicultural activities, student union programming, student organizations, student government, spirit squads and ticket office), student involvement (leadership development, community service and new student programs) and campus recreation.

As a visiting professor in the Hankamer School of Business, he teaches organizational leadership and change. He teaches human resource development in higher education settings as an adjunct professor in the School of Education. He was honored as a Mortar Board Outstanding Professor in 1995 and 2001. In addition, he was recognized by the Baylor Alumni Association as an Outstanding Young Alumnus in 2004.

Dr. Oliver serves as interim pastor of Canaan Baptist Church in Crawford. He is married to Susie Oliver, a Baylor Alumna By Choice who teaches special education PE and coordinates the Special Olympics for Waco ISD. They have one daughter, Callie.

Reagan M. Ramsower, Acting Vice President for Finance and Administration

Dr. Reagan Ramsower joined the Baylor faculty upon receiving his PhD in management information systems and industrial psychology from the University of Minnesota in 1983. He earned two degrees from Baylor, a bachelor of business degree in 1974 and master's of science degree in economics in 1976.

He was appointed in 1986 as chair of the newly formed Department of Information Systems in the Hankamer School of Business and established master's and doctoral programs in the department while managing the rapid growth in the undergraduate programs. In 1991, he became associate dean for teaching and administrative systems in the business school where he developed administrative systems for improved management control and enhanced teaching processes using technology. Since 2000, he has managed Baylor's information assets as associate vice president and chief information officer. In 2001, Dr. Ramsower accepted responsibility for managing the University's tangible knowledge assets as dean of Baylor Libraries. In August 2004, he became the acting vice president of finance and administration and now manages the offices of budget, human resources, financial services, investments, and operations and facilities.

Internationally recognized for his pioneering work in 1984 on telecommuting, Dr. Ramsower has published several books and numerous articles. He was named an Outstanding Baylor Professor in 1988, an Outstanding Baylor Alumnus in 1991, and Most Popular Business Professor in 1999.

He is a member of Lake Shore Baptist Church. He is an avid windsurfer, an expert snow skier and a scuba diver.

Richard C. Scott, Vice President for University Development

Dr. Richard C. Scott earned a bachelor of business administration degree from Baylor in 1956 and a master of business administration degree from Baylor in 1965. He earned a doctor of business administration degree from Indiana University in 1968.

Dr. Scott joined Baylor's faculty in 1968 as an associate professor of management and director of special programs. He served as a professor of management and dean of the Hankamer School of Business from 1977-96 and was appointed vice president for University development in April 1996.

He has owned and managed several businesses and serves as a consultant to businesses, legal firms, accounting firms, and governmental agencies for planning, management strategy, acquisition and sale of businesses, and business evaluations.

Dr. Scott is the past president of Beta Gamma Sigma and past chair of the Board of Trustees of the Annuity Board of the Southern Baptist Convention. He also was a member of the Board of Directors and executive committee of the American Assembly of Collegiate Schools of Business. He has served as chair of deacons at First Baptist Church of Woodway, director of the Waco Chamber of Commerce, president of the Board of Trustees of Midway and Speegleville Independent School Districts, and director of United Way of Waco and Goodwill Industries. He also has served on the boards of two New York Stock Exchange companies.

Dr. Scott and his wife, Terry, have three children: Kim, Rick, and Kelly.

Ian McCAW

Director of Athletics

Laurentian, 1985

Ian McCaw assumed the leadership of Baylor's 18-sport, Big 12 intercollegiate athletics program on Sept. 8, 2003.

Baylor experienced its most successful intercollegiate athletics year in 2004-05 which included winning the national championship in women's basketball, being national runner-up in men's tennis and finishing third in baseball at the College World Series. Baylor eclipsed the previous school record of two conference championships in one year by winning Big 12 regular season championships in baseball, women's basketball, men's tennis and women's tennis. BU added Big 12 tournament titles in women's basketball and men's tennis. Benedikt Dorsch and Zuzana Zemenova won the NCAA men's and women's singles championships while Darold Williamson won the NCAA title in the 400 meters.

A total of 10 Baylor teams finished the year ranked among the top 25 nationally with a school-record 12 teams advancing to NCAA postseason competition. Baylor finished fourth in the Big 12 and 25th nationally in the NACDA Directors' Cup, its highest ranking ever. At the same time, Baylor student-athletes led the Big 12 with a NCAA graduate rate of 78 percent, eight points higher than the school's general student population.

In 2003-04, Baylor had a highly successful year that included winning the first NCAA team championship in school history along with five NCAA individual titles. The men's tennis team captured the NCAA team championship, while Benjamin Becker won the NCAA men's singles title, Jeremy Wariner won the NCAA indoor and outdoor 400 meter title and the 4x400-meter relay team captured the NCAA indoor and outdoor championship.

Baylor had 10 teams advance to 2003-04 NCAA postseason. In the final NACDA Cup rankings, Baylor finished 47th, and seven of its programs were ranked in the nation's top 25 at season's end.

A five-year strategic plan for intercollegiate athletics, Above and Beyond, was developed and implemented inclusive of department goals and objectives. Issues relating to the student-athlete experience, enhanced program competitiveness, equity, diversity, rules compliance, sporting conduct, external support, facility improvements and long-term financial stability were addressed.

An outgrowth of this plan was the creation of the five-year, $90 million development campaign Victory with Integrity which was initiated in February 2005. The campaign addresses annual, endowment and capital fundraising goals including the creation of a basketball practice facility, an equestrian facility, an indoor tennis and multi-purpose facility, an on-campus track and field facility and an on-campus football training center.

A $2 million facility renovation of Floyd Casey Stadium was completed including the Grant Teaff Plaza and I Believe Walkway along with the installation of a new synthetic football field surface.

McCaw is Baylor's 12th director of athletics and arrived from the University of Massachusetts, where he spent the previous year as director of athletics. McCaw was responsible for a 23-sport program and helped develop and implement a five-year strategic plan for UMass athletics.

McCaw also oversaw a $2 million renovation of the men's and women's basketball and ice hockey locker room facilities at UMass. In McCaw's one season in Amherst, UMass captured Atlantic 10 championships in men's soccer, men's swimming and softball. The Minuteman football team finished among the I-AA top 20, and the men's lacrosse and softball programs advanced to NCAA postseason play.

During McCaw's tenure at UMass, the athletic program developed a new Massachusetts Minuteman identity system and branding initiative that received widespread regional and national support and recognition. The NCAA graduation rate for UMass student-athletes was 71 percent, 12 points higher than that of the school's general student population.

McCaw previously served as director of intercollegiate athletics and campus recreation at Northeastern University from 1997-2002. During his five years at Northeastern, the athletic department benefited from McCaw's reorganization and the recruitment of several key members to the Huskies' staff. A five-year strategic plan for Northeastern athletics inclusive of department goals and objectives was developed and implemented.

Northeastern graduated 65 percent of its student-athletes during McCaw's final year at the Boston institution, 14 points higher than the institutional average. Husky student-athletes also gave back to the community, as each team was required to participate in at least one community service project annually.

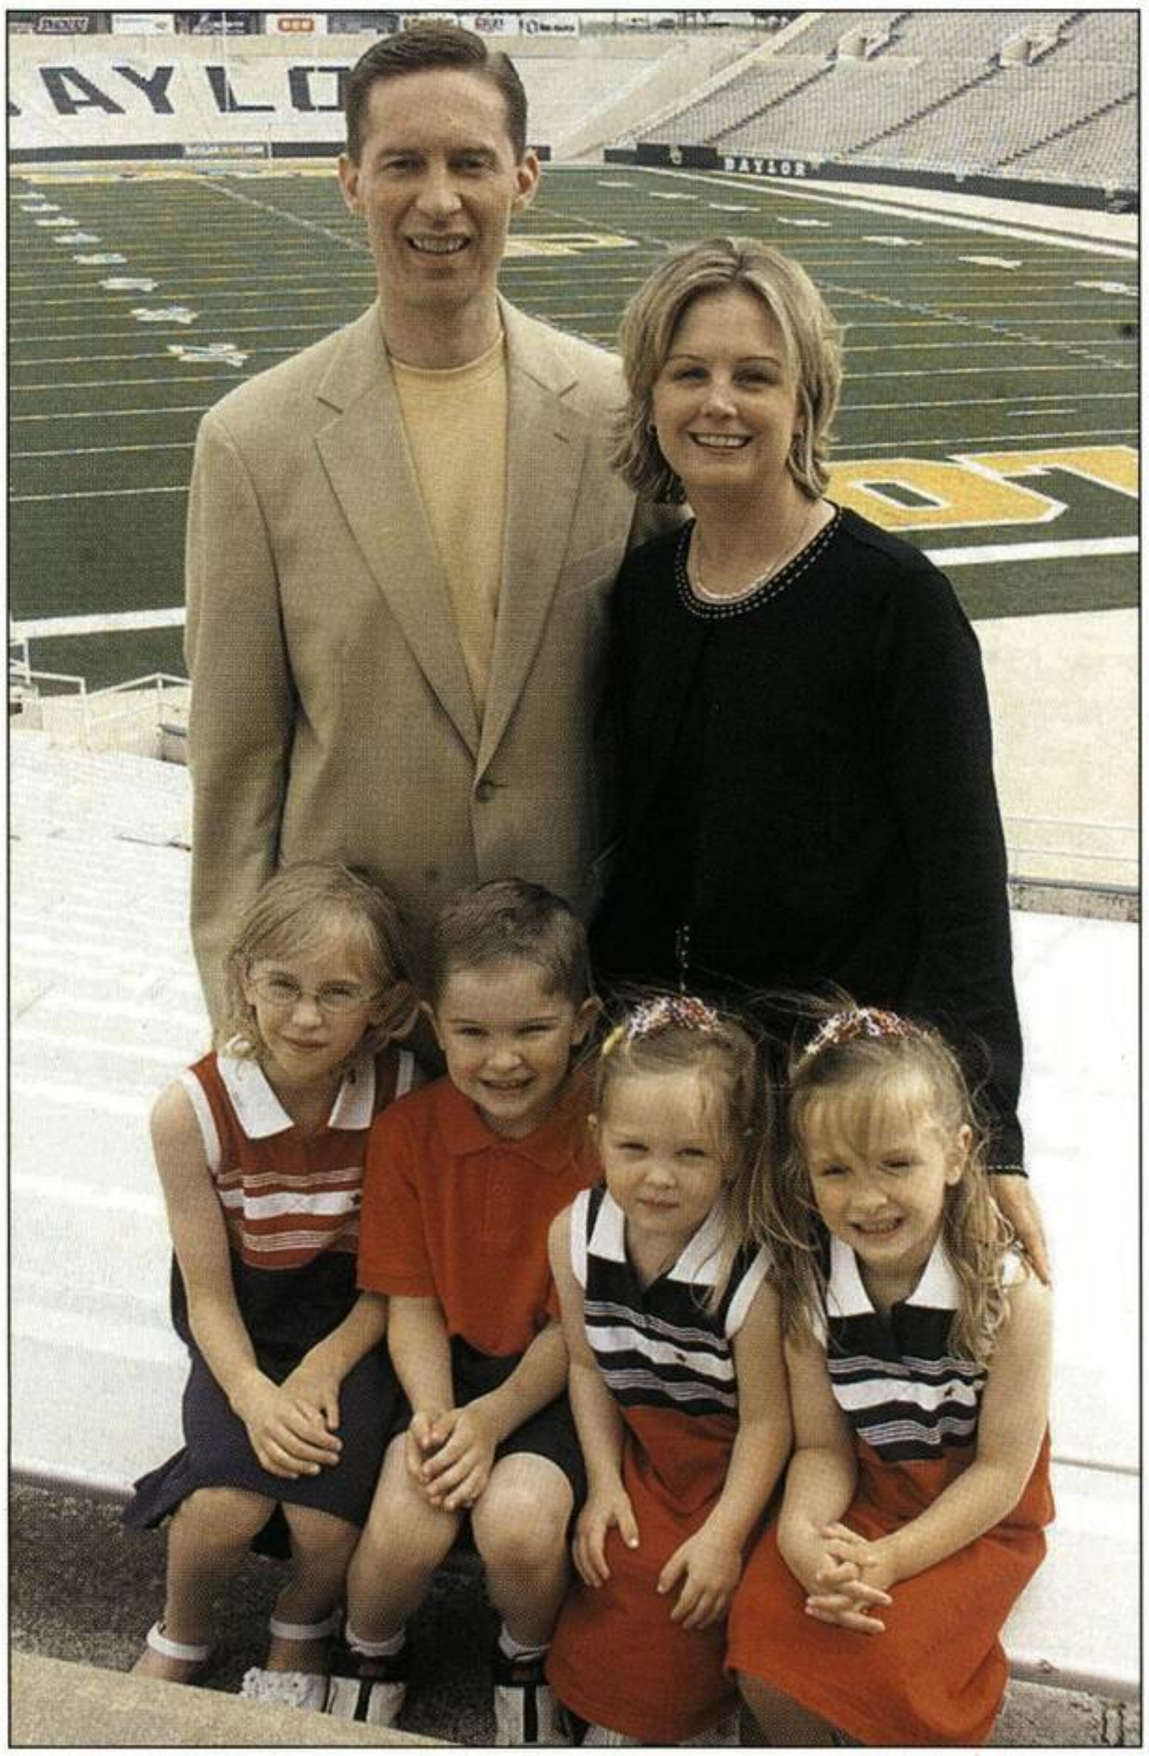
The success of the Northeastern athletic program on McCaw's watch extended beyond the classroom, as the program captured a school-record six America East conference titles in 2001-2002, and five teams finished among the nation's top 20. In all, nine different programs captured at least one conference title during McCaw's tenure and five earned at least one NCAA bid.

A $4 million renovation of Northeastern's Cabot Center, which included a refurbishment of the main gymnasium, an expanded speed, strength and conditioning center, a new sports medicine center, expanded and renovated locker rooms, was also completed under McCaw's direction.

Recognized as a national leader in intercollegiate athletics, McCaw was the chairman of the 2002-2003 NCAA Division I men's ice hockey committee. He also served on the Atlantic 10 Football, Hockey East and National Consortium for Academics and Sports executive committees. In addition, McCaw has served on the America East championships, gender equity, men's basketball, sporting conduct and baseball committees.

McCaw went to Northeastern from Tulane University, where he served as senior associate athletic director for development and associate athletic director for external affairs from 1992-1997, being named Tulane's co-interim director of athletics in 1996. Prior to his years at Tulane, McCaw worked in a variety of athletic administrative posts at the University of Maine from 1986 to 1992 including sports information, marketing and external affairs.

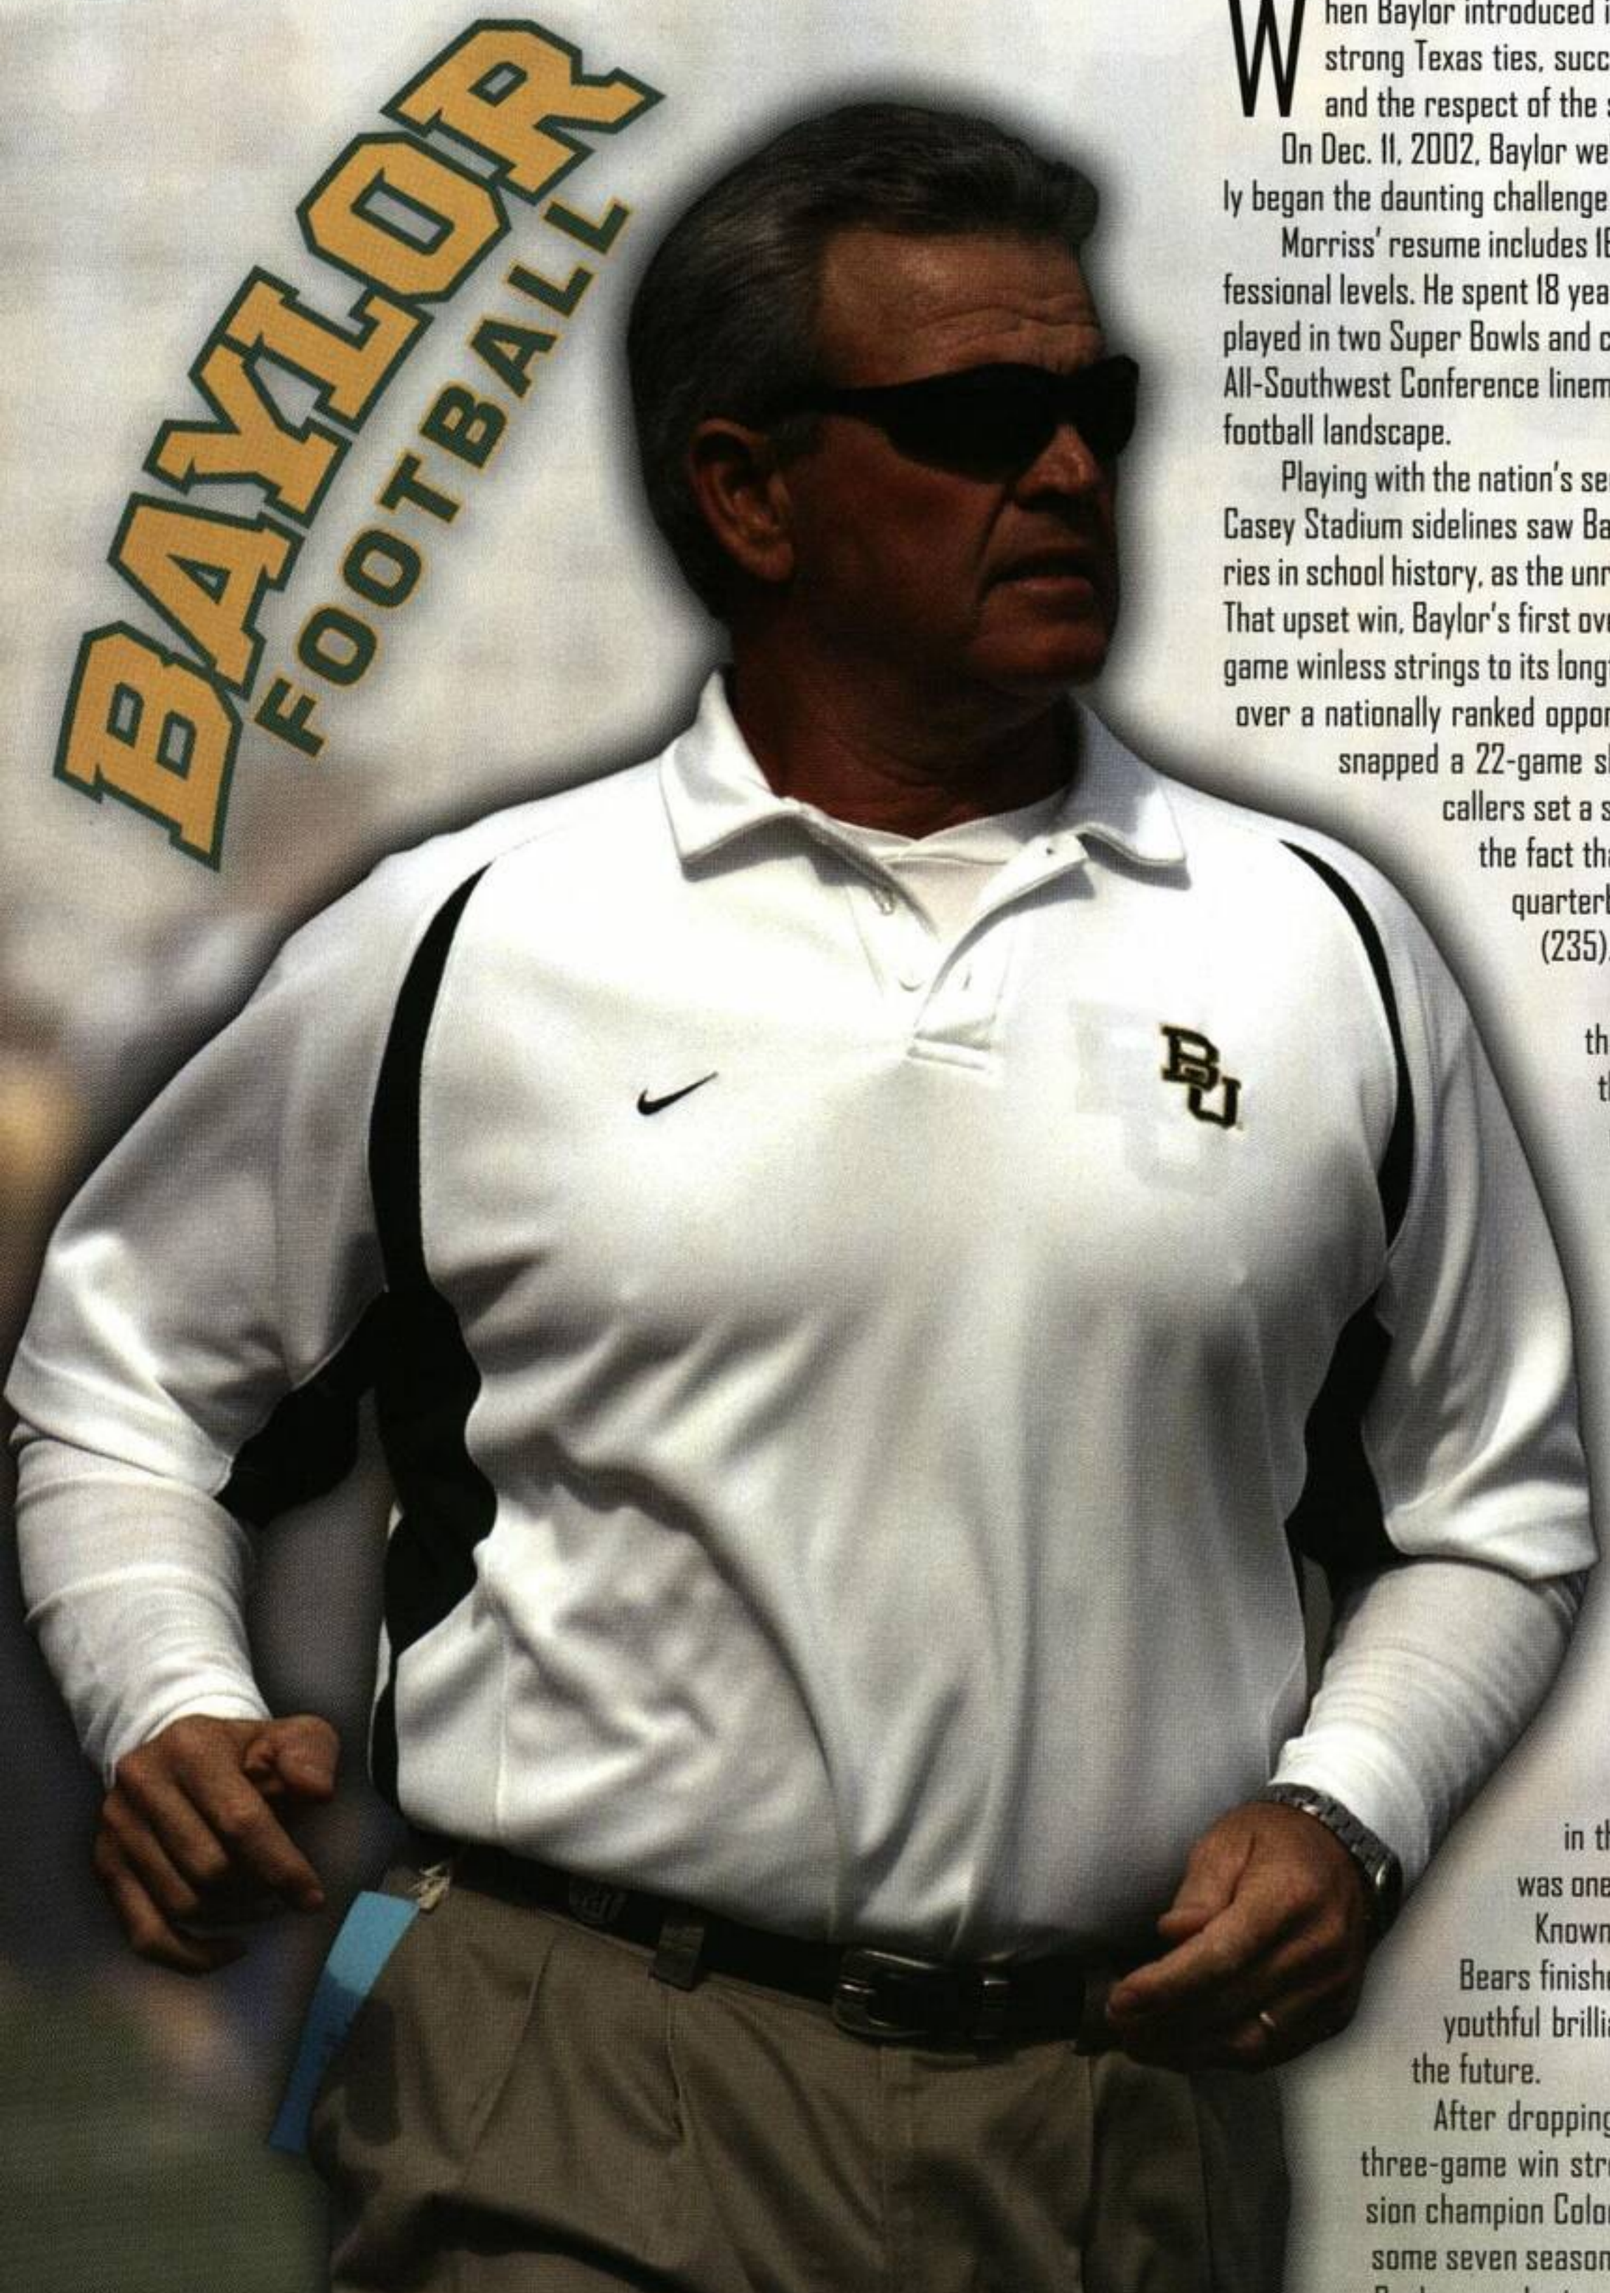
McCaw earned his master's degree in sport management from UMass in 1987, after receiving a bachelor's degree in sports administration at Laurentian University in Sudbury, Ontario, in 1985. McCaw and his wife, Heather, are members of First Baptist Church of Woodway and the parents of four children: Christy, Paul, Callie and Corinne. McCaw is a member of the Board of Directors of Live Oak Classical School in Waco.



THE McCAW FAMILY

we're throwing one heck of a party

and all of Texas is invited!



Head Coach GUY MORRISS

Third-year coach has instilled a new attitude at Baylor, one of toughness, discipline and a renewed commitment to excellence.

When Baylor introduced its 24th head football coach, the University selected an individual with strong Texas ties, successful playing and coaching experiences at the game's highest levels and the respect of the state's high school coaches and former players.

On Dec. 11, 2002, Baylor welcomed Guy Morriss as its new head football coach and he immediately began the daunting challenge of rebuilding the Bears' gridiron fortunes.

Morriss' resume includes 16 years of experience as a coach at the high school, collegiate and professional levels. He spent 18 years in the National Football League, where he was an All-Pro performer, played in two Super Bowls and coached for three seasons. A Colorado City, Texas, native and two-time All-Southwest Conference lineman at TCU, Morriss is certainly no stranger to the Lone Star's storied football landscape.

Playing with the nation's second-youngest team in 2004, Morriss' second year patrolling the Floyd Casey Stadium sidelines saw Baylor post a 3-8 overall record and produce one of the greatest victories in school history, as the unranked Bears knocked off No. 16 Texas A&M, 35-34, in overtime at Waco. That upset win, Baylor's first over the Aggies since 1985, ended both the Bears' 13-game losing and 18-game winless strings to its longtime rival from College Station. The A&M victory also marked BU's first over a nationally ranked opponent since 1998 (and first over a rated league foe since 1995), which snapped a 22-game skid to ranked teams. For the second consecutive year, Baylor signal callers set a school single-season record for completion percentage (.595), despite the fact that three different Bears drew at least one start under center, and its quarterback trio established a new school one-season mark for completions (235).

The 2004 campaign also saw Baylor punter Daniel Sepulveda earn the Ray Guy Award as the nation's top collegiate punter and become only the third individual in program history to win a season-ending national college football award, joining Mike Singletary (two-time Davey O'Brien winner) and Thomas Everett (Thorpe Award). Sepulveda, who also became the first Bear to earn All-America honors on the gridiron since 1995, was one of two Baylor players (Willie Andrews was the other) to garner 2004 All-Big 12 first-team honors from the league's coaches. Oklahoma (eight) and Texas (six) were the only schools with more first-team honorees than Baylor.

It marked just the second time in the nine-year history of the Big 12 Conference that Baylor placed two student-athletes on the coaches' first team and its five coaches honorees were also its most since the Big 12's inception. In two seasons under Morriss, nine Bears have earned all-conference honors from the league's coaches, one shy of Baylor's total for the 1999, 2000, 2001 and 2002 seasons combined.

The 2005 NFL Draft saw the Kansas City Chiefs select DE Khari Long in the sixth round, the highest a Bear had been selected since 1999. Long was one of three Baylor players to earn 2005 postseason All-Star game invites.

Known for his no-nonsense approach and aggressive recruiting, Morriss' Bears finished 3-9 in his rookie season. However, there were enough moments of youthful brilliance along the way to give Baylor's tradition-rich program hope for the future.

After dropping the first two games of the 2003 campaign, Baylor put together a three-game win streak highlighted by a 42-30 victory over two-time Big 12 North division champion Colorado in the Bears' league opener. The win string was BU's longest in some seven seasons and the Colorado triumph allowed Morriss to become just the third Baylor coach since 1950 (and only the sixth ever) to win his conference debut on the Bear sideline.

Morriss' first season in Waco also saw the Baylor defense limit then-No. 1 Oklahoma to a then-season-low 56 rushing yards (only national champion LSU held the Sooners to fewer yards on the ground) and register the sixth-highest one-season sack total (29) in school history and its best mark since 1994. The BU offense produced its first 1,000-yard rusher since 1995 in All-Big 12 running back Rashad Armstrong and its quarterbacks completed a then-school-record 56.7 percent of their passes, while the Bears' special team units recorded four scores.

Five Bears earned 2003 all-conference honors and three players participated in season-ending All-Star games, as did Morriss, who served as the head offensive coach for the Gray squad at the 2003 Blue-Gray All-Star Classic. He was joined on the Gray's sideline by Baylor offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach Brent Pease and Bears' center Cedric Fields.

In addition to the program's improvement on the field, it also continues to make strides in the classroom. Since the fall of 2003, Morriss' Bears have averaged a 2.44 semester grade-point average with a high mark of 2.46 for the fall 2003 semester. An average of 39 football players since Morriss' arrival have been named to the Big 12 Commissioner's Honor Roll which honors student-athletes for achieving a 3.00 mark or better during each semester.

Off the field, BU players continued to give back to the community by making numerous appearances at local schools and participating in several service projects throughout the area.

Morriss arrived in Waco from Lexington, Ky., where he spent the previous six seasons helping resurrect the Kentucky football program, the last two as the Wildcats' head coach.

At Kentucky, Morriss and his accomplished staff were credited with rebuilding Kentucky's relationships with high school coaches, as well as earning the respect of his players with a fair, no-nonsense approach. He beefed up the team's off-season conditioning by instituting stringent 6 a.m. workouts, designed to toughen it physically and mentally.

In 2001, Morriss took over a Wildcat program in disarray. With NCAA probation looming in the school's immediate future, Morriss was introduced as Kentucky's head coach on Feb. 6, 2001, the day before national signing day, and began to stabilize the program.

Despite the inherent obstacles, Morriss confidently rallied the Wildcat players and staff. In his first season as a head coach in 2001, he guided UK to a 2-9 record, which included three losses by four points or fewer to Southeastern Conference opponents.

A season highlight included a 56-30 win at Vanderbilt that resulted in National Player of the Week honors for Wildcat quarterback Jared Lorenzen, who threw for 453 yards and six scores against the Commodores.

In the second half of the 2001 season, Kentucky led the SEC in passing offense (376 yards per game) and ranked third in total offense (456.2 per game) while scoring an average of 29.8 points.

Year two saw the fruits of Morriss' leadership become quickly evident. The 2002 Wildcats turned some heads with a 7-5 record, including wins over Mississippi State, eventual SEC West Division champion Arkansas and 17th-ranked Louisville. The seven-win season in 2002 was only the fifth since 1955 for Kentucky, which received votes in the Associated Press Top 25 poll. UK's defeats included a four-point setback vs. South Carolina, a seven-point loss at then-No. 7 Florida and an unbelievable three-point defeat on the game's final play against then-No. 17 LSU.

In Morriss' two seasons as Kentucky's head coach, 10 Wildcats earned All-SEC recognition, three were named All-American and 43 garnered academic All-SEC honors. In addition, three players were selected in the NFL Draft, including Dewayne Robertson, a 2003 first-round pick of the New York Jets and the first UK defender taken in the first round since Art Still's 1978 selection by the Kansas City Chiefs. In his six seasons all-told in Lexington, four UK offensive linemen were selected first-team all-conference and three earned freshman All-America honors.

The Wildcats ranked in the nation's top 20 in passing offense five of Morriss' six years with the program and in the nation's top 15 in total offense in three of those seasons. In 1996, the year before Morriss' arrival, UK finished 109th nationally in total offense.

Morriss spent four seasons as Kentucky's assistant head coach and offensive line coach before being promoted to head coach. During his time as an assistant, the Wildcats twice earned bowl invitations and their offense scored more points and generated more yards than any previous four-year period in school history.

Recognized as an outstanding teacher of line play, Morriss began his coaching career as an offensive line assistant coach with the New England Patriots from 1988 to 1989 under head coach and NFL Hall of Famer Raymond Berry. He was the offensive coordinator at Mansfield (Texas) High School in 1991. Morriss was then selected as the head coach of the Washington Marauders of the Professional Spring Football League in 1992, but the league ceased operations prior to the start of the season.

From 1992 to 1993, he coached the offensive line at Valdosta State (Ga.) University before returning to the NFL in 1994 as a member of Buddy Ryan's Arizona Cardinals staff. Morriss then spent the 1995 campaign with the Canadian Football League's San Antonio Texans, where he worked with current Baylor assistant coaches Bill Bradley and Mark Nelson. That year, San Antonio was second in the CFL in points scored and advanced to the semifinals of the Grey Cup playoffs.

Prior to his Kentucky tenure, Morriss spent one season at Mississippi State, where he coached the offensive line in 1996. Bulldogs' offensive tackle Brent Smith garnered first-team All-SEC honors and was a second-round draft selection by the NFL's Miami Dolphins.

Morriss first made headlines in the Lone Star state as an All-Southwest Conference guard at TCU. A three-year letterwinner for the Horned Frogs, Morriss was a two-time All-SWC performer (second team as a junior in 1971 and first team in 1972) who started 28 games in his collegiate career. Following his final collegiate season, he played in four all-star games — the Blue-Gray Game, the Senior Bowl, the Coaches' All-America Game and the College All-Star Game. Morriss captained the Horned Frogs in his senior year and was inducted into the school's athletic Hall of Fame in 1997.

A 1973 TCU graduate (secondary education), Morriss was a second-round draft pick of the Philadelphia Eagles who went on to play 11 seasons at center for the franchise. He helped the Eagles to four consecutive playoff berths (1978-82) under legendary coach Dick Vermeil, including NFC East crowns in 1979 and 1980, and was a starter on the organization's 1980 NFC championship team that played in Super Bowl XV. Morriss, an Eagles' team captain for five seasons, was selected to the 1981 All-Pro team.

From 1984 to 1987 Morriss played for the New England Patriots, helping Berry's team to playoff appearances in 1985 and 1986. He was a member of the Patriots' 1985 AFC championship squad and played in Super Bowl XX.

When the 2004 Super Bowl was played in Houston, The Dallas Morning News named Morriss to its All-Texas High School Super Bowl Team. He is one of only two active NCAA Division I-A coaches (his Eagle teammate, current North Carolina head coach John Bunting, is the other) to have played in the Super Bowl.

Morriss and his wife Jackie are the parents of five daughters: Colleen, Melanie, Kerry, Savannah Rae and Austin Leigh.

Gerald CARR

Assistant Head Coach/ Running Backs

Gerald Carr, a 24-year coaching veteran, serves as Baylor's assistant head coach and tutors the Bears' running backs. Baylor's third-year assistant head coach acts on behalf of Guy Morriss when the head coach is unavailable and handles numerous administrative duties for the program.

He has worked at nearly every level of his profession, including stints on both the high school and collegiate levels, as well as National Football League and Arena Football League coaching experiences.

His first season at Baylor saw running back Rashad Armstrong earn third-team All-Big 12 honors from the league's coaches and become the school's first 1,000-yard rusher since 1995 (and just the sixth all-time). Armstrong rushed for 1,074 yards, the fifth-best one-season mark in school history. Carr also directed a 2003 BU ground attack that increased its productivity by nearly seven yards per game over its 2002 output and recorded its highest per-game average since the 1998 campaign. In 2004, he tutored Paul Mosley, whose per-carry average of 4.6 yards was the best by a Baylor season rushing leader since 1997.

Hired as Kentucky's running backs coach in February 2002, Carr was promoted to assistant head coach two months later. During his lone season in Lexington, he mentored the Southeastern Conference's leading rusher, Artose Pinner, a consensus first-team all-league performer who also earned Associated Press SEC Offensive Player of the Year honors. Pinner was selected in the fourth round of the 2003 NFL Draft by the Detroit Lions.

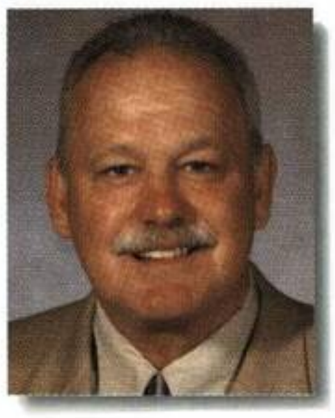
Prior to his UK stint, Carr spent the 2001 campaign at Indiana University, where he was the Hoosiers' quarterbacks coach and passing game coordinator. Under his tutelage, IU quarterback Antwaan Randle El earned first-team All-America and Big Ten Most Valuable Player honors. Randle El became the first player in NCAA history to have 40 rushing touchdowns and 40 passing scores in a career and also the only player in NCAA history to pass for more than 6,000 yards and rush for more than 3,000 yards in a career. Randle El, who rushed for more yards than any quarterback in NCAA history and ranks fifth all-time in total offense with 11,364 yards, finished sixth in the 2001 Heisman Trophy voting and was a second-round selection of the NFL's Pittsburgh Steelers.

Carr, who began his coaching career in 1981 at his prep alma mater, North Mecklenberg (N.C.) High School, has been an offensive assistant for all but one season of his collegiate coaching career, working at Southern Illinois (1982), Davidson (1983-85), Akron (1986-88), Washington State (1989-90), Arizona (1991), North Carolina (1992-94), Wake Forest (1999), Indiana (2001), Kentucky (2002) and Baylor. He gained his first bowl experience with North Carolina, helping coach Mack Brown's Tar Heels to the Peach, Gator, and Sun bowls and some 27 victories during his three seasons (1992-94) with the program. He also helped Wake Forest to a victory in the 1999 Aloha Bowl.

He entered the professional ranks as wide receivers coach for the NFL's Philadelphia Eagles from 1995-98. The Eagles advanced to the playoffs following the 1995 and 1996 regular seasons. In 1996, Pro Bowl wideout Irving Fryar set the Eagles' single-season record for receptions with 88.

Carr spent the 2000 season with the Carolina Cobras of the Arena Football League, working as the team's offensive coordinator and quarterbacks/wide receivers coach.

A native of Davidson, N.C., Carr played quarterback at Southern Illinois and was a Saluki letterwinner from 1978-80 before earning his bachelor's degree (administrative sciences) from SIU in 1981. He and his wife, Vanessa, have two daughters, Ashonti and Miteya.



Bill BRADLEY

Defensive Coordinator

Bill Bradley, who has been a member of coaching staffs which have guided 15 teams to winning records in his 22 seasons on the sidelines, begins his second year as Baylor's defensive coordinator.

In Bradley's first season with the Bears, his defense produced four All-Big 12 performers and allowed an average of nearly 30 yards per game fewer (421.1 ypg) than it did in 2003 (450.0 ypg). The Bears' pass defense, which ranked 101st among all NCAA I-A programs in 2003 prior to his arrival, was rated No. 62 at the end of his first season in Waco.

Bradley joined Guy Morriss' program from the National Football League's New York Jets, where he had spent three years (2001-03) as the team's defensive backs coach. The Jets ranked among the NFL's top 10 in pass defense during the 2003 campaign, advanced to the playoffs twice (2001 and 2002) and captured the 2002 AFC East title during his tenure on coach Herman Edwards' staff.

Prior to working for the Jets, Bradley served in the same capacity with the Buffalo Bills from 1998 to 2000. Buffalo led the AFC in pass defense during the 1999 season and ranked second in 2000. The Bills, who advanced to the AFC playoffs in both 1998 and 1999, led the NFL in total defense in 1999, and ranked third in that category in 1998 and sixth in 2000.

Before moving into the NFL, Bradley served as the defensive coordinator for the Canadian Football League's Toronto Argonauts in 1996 and 1997, helping the team to Grey Cup victories both years. He also served as the defensive coordinator and secondary coach for the San Antonio Texans (1995) and the Sacramento Gold Miners (1994), worked as the defensive backs coach of the World League's San Antonio Riders (1991-92) and spent three years with the Calgary Stampeders (1988-90).

Bradley broke into the coaching ranks with the USFL's San Antonio Gunslingers in 1983 as the team's defensive backs coach and personnel assistant, then spent the 1984 campaign as the club's secondary coach. He then moved on to serve as secondary coach of the USFL's Memphis Showboats (1985) and spent a year coaching at the University of Texas (1987) before moving into the CFL in 1988.

An outstanding NFL player, Bradley was selected in the third round of the 1969 NFL Draft by the Philadelphia Eagles and went on to earn three All-Pro awards (1971-73) as a free safety for the franchise. In addition, he served as the Eagles' punter and kick returner. Bradley led the NFL in interceptions in both 1971 (11) and 1972 (nine) and in the process became the first player ever to lead the league in interceptions in consecutive seasons, a feat that has been matched just once since.

One of Morriss' teammates in Philadelphia from 1973 to 1976, Bradley still holds Eagle team records for career interception return yardage (536) and club single-season marks for interceptions and return yardage (11 for 249 in 1971), as well as sharing the team's all-time interception record with Eric Allen (34). He played in 114 NFL games, spending the 1969-76 seasons with the Eagles and the 1977 campaign with both the Minnesota Vikings and St. Louis Cardinals.

A native of Palestine, Texas, Bradley was a high school All-America quarterback who led his team to the 1965 state title and went on to a standout college career as a quarterback and defensive back at the University of Texas from 1966 to 1968. He served as a tri-captain of coach Darrell Royal's 1968 Longhorn team which finished the season 9-1-1, tied for the Southwest Conference championship, was ranked third in the final Associated Press poll and fifth in the season-ending United Press International poll, and beat Tennessee 36-13 in the Cotton Bowl.

Bradley recorded a UT single-game record four interceptions in the Longhorns' 35-14 win over Texas A&M as a senior, a record that still stands today and a mark that is the best-ever by a SWC performer. Following his collegiate career, he played in the 1969 Hula Bowl, the Coaches All-America Game and the College All-Star Game. Bradley earned UT's 1968 D.H. Byrd Leadership Award.

A member of the Texas High School, University of Texas and Philadelphia Eagles halls of fame, Bradley and his wife, Susan, have two children, Matthew and Carissa.

Mark NELSON

Special Teams Coordinator/ Linebackers

Mark Nelson, recognized as one of the nation's finest special teams coaches, is in his third year as Baylor's special teams coordinator and second as its linebackers coach after directing the Bears' defensive ends and special teams in 2003.

Nelson's special teams units have arguably been the strength of Guy Morriss' first two Baylor squads. In 2004, Daniel Sepulveda earned the Ray Guy Award as the nation's top collegiate punter after ranking No. 3 nationally with his 46.0 yard average and Willie Andrews was a consensus first-team All-Big 12 honoree as a kick return specialist after leading the league in kickoff returns with his 24.7 yard mark. The Bears, who ranked No. 5 nationally in net punting (40.6 ypp), No. 35 in kickoff returns (21.7 ypr) and No. 36 in punt returns (11.1 ypr), were the only Big 12 team to rank among the nation's top 36 in all three of those statistical categories in 2004.

While tutoring an All-American and two first-team all-league players on special teams, Nelson also coached Bears' linebacker Justin Crooks, a consensus 2004 second-team All-Big 12 pick.

The 2003 Bears produced three touchdown returns in the kicking game, a blocked kick recovered for a safety and the Big 12's third-best punter in Sepulveda, who averaged 43.1 yards per kick. BU return specialist Robert Quiroga, who returned two 2003 kickoffs for touchdowns, and Sepulveda each received All-Big 12 honors for their performances.

Prior to his arrival in Waco, Nelson made his mark on the Southeastern Conference in two seasons as Kentucky's special teams coach. Two Wildcats — punter Glenn Pakulak and kick returner Derek Abney — were named first-team All-SEC both years under Nelson. In 2002, Abney also earned first-team All-America honors after setting an NCAA record with six kick returns for touchdowns (four punts and two kickoffs), while Pakulak won the Mosi Tatupu Award as the National Special Teams Player of the Year and also garnered All-America status.

The 2002 Wildcats also led the SEC in net punting (40.1) and punt return average (15.6) and were second in kickoff return average (23.6). In addition to his special teams duties, Nelson coached the Wildcats' tight ends in 2001 and the defensive ends in 2002.

He worked in the Canadian Football League from 1992-96. Nelson was with the Edmonton Eskimos from 1992-94 as special teams coordinator, linebackers coach (1992) and running backs coach (1993-94). Edmonton won the 1993 Grey Cup and Nelson was named CFL Special Teams Coach of the Year for his efforts.

Nelson became acquainted with Guy Morriss when they first coached together with the CFL's San Antonio Texans in 1995. Nelson was the linebackers coach and San Antonio was a conference finalist. He won another Grey Cup in 1996 as defensive line coach for the Toronto Argonauts, where he worked with Baylor defensive coordinator Bill Bradley.

After leaving the CFL, Nelson was defensive coordinator and assistant head coach for three seasons at Valdosta State (Ga.) University. His defensive units were consistently ranked at or near the top of the Gulf South Conference.

Nelson spent the 2000 season as Arkansas Tech's defensive coordinator and defensive backs coach. Tech went 7-3, including a win over Delta State, the only loss suffered by the eventual NCAA Division II national champion.

A native of Edmonton, Alberta, Nelson was an NAIA All-American during his collegiate playing career at East Central Oklahoma State University. He received his bachelor's degree from East Central Oklahoma in 1980 and earned a master's degree from Pittsburg (Kan.) State in 1988. Nelson played seven seasons in the CFL as a linebacker and fullback with Calgary (1980-85) and Saskatchewan (1986).

Nelson and his wife, Lori, have three children, sons Kyle and Kolton, and daughter Kayli.

Brent PEASE

Offensive Coordinator/ Quarterbacks

Brent Pease, a former National Football League quarterback, assistant coach for a NCAA Division I-AA national championship team and coach of the I-AA Player of the Year, begins his third season as Baylor's offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach after working in the same position on coach Guy Morriss' Kentucky staff.

Despite starting three different quarterbacks in 2004, Baylor again broke the school's single-season mark for completion percentage (.595) and established a new standard for total completions with 235. The 2004 Bears threw for 2,342 yards, the fifth-highest one-year total in school history, and improved their total offense average (311.8 ypg) by more than 30 yards per game over their 2003 output.

Under Pease's guidance, the 2003 Baylor offense produced the program's first 1,000-yard rusher since 1995 (and just the sixth ever) in running back Rashad Armstrong, who earned All-Big 12 honors after rushing for 1,074 yards. The Bears' signal callers, meanwhile, combined to complete 56.7 percent of their passes on the year, at the time a single-season school record. Following the season, Pease served as Morriss' offensive assistant coach in the annual Blue-Gray All-Star Classic.

At Kentucky, Pease tutored second-team All-Southeastern Conference quarterback Jared Lorenzen, who led a Wildcat offense that averaged a league-leading 32.1 points a game in 2002. Another of the Wildcats' offensive threats during Pease's tenure was the SEC's leading rusher, Artose Pinner, who earned first-team all-conference and league Offensive Player of the Year honors. Pinner was selected in the fourth round of the 2003 NFL Draft by the Detroit Lions.

Pease was the assistant head coach, offensive coordinator and quarterback coach at Northern Arizona University for two seasons, helping the Lumberjacks advance to the 1999 NCAA Division I-AA playoffs. He coached quarterback Travis Brown, who was MVP of the 1999 Blue-Gray Game. During the 2000 season, NAU running back Marcus King rushed for 1,474 yards and 13 touchdowns.

Pease coached at his alma mater, the University of Montana, from 1991-98. He was the offensive coordinator the last three seasons and also coached the quarterbacks (1994-98), running backs (1991-98) and wide receivers (1991-94).

With generous assistance from Pease's play-calling ability, Montana was a fixture in the NCAA Division I-AA playoffs each of his last six seasons. The Grizzlies won the 1995 national I-AA championship, finished as runner-up in 1996 and were semi-finalists in 1994. Montana rolled up 185 points, 46.3 per game, in the four playoff games en route to the 1995 title. Pease's offensive unit generated 191 points, 47.8 per game, in the 1996 playoff series.

Pease's quarterback in 1995, David Dickenson, won the Walter Payton Award as the Division I-AA National Player of the Year and was the Big Sky Conference's MVP from 1993-95. Dickenson's successor, Brian Ah Yat, was a three-year Walter Payton Award finalist and played in the Hula Bowl. Montana quarterbacks won the league's Offensive Player of the Year award five times in Pease's eight seasons at the school. He also coached two All-America wide receivers.

Pease is a 1990 graduate of the University of Montana. After two seasons at Walla Walla (Wash.) Community College, he played quarterback for the Grizzlies in 1985-86. Pease led the nation in total offense in 1986 and set nine school records during a standout career.

After college, Pease was drafted by the NFL's Minnesota Vikings and played two years for the Houston Oilers (1987-88), where one of his teammates during the Oilers' two-year playoff run was former Baylor standout quarterback Cody Carlson. He also has playing experience in the Canadian Football League, the World League of American Football and the Arena Football League. In 1991, he was the first player selected in the inaugural WLAF draft by the Birmingham Fire.

A native of Mountain Home, Idaho, Pease and his wife, Paula, have a daughter, Halle, and a son, Karsten.

Larry HOEFER

Assistant Coach Safeties

Texas native and veteran defensive coach Larry Hoefer enters his third season as Baylor's safeties coach and his 31st year on the sideline.

In his first year with the Bears, Hoefer coached the Bears' leading tackler in Maurice Lane, who tallied 129 stops from his free safety spot en route to honorable mention All-Big 12 honors, and 2004 Las Vegas Classic invitee Derrick Cash, the team's fourth-leading tackler as an outside safety. Another of his players, outside safety Willie Andrews, led the team in interceptions and was third on the squad in tackles.

The 2004 season saw Andrews earn first-team All-Big 12 honors as a safety from The Dallas Morning News and Lane receive first-team all-conference recognition from the San Antonio Express-News. Lane paced the squad in tackles for the second consecutive season, while Andrews again ranked third in tackles and recorded a team-high three sacks.

Hoefer spent two seasons as safeties coach on Guy Morriss' Kentucky staff before making the move to Waco. He went to UK from Texas-El Paso, where he was defensive coordinator and linebackers coach for the 2000 season. The Miners posted an 8-3 regular season record, were co-champions of the Western Athletic Conference and played in the Humanitarian Bowl. The bowl game marked Hoefer's sixth as a coach, in addition to four at Texas Tech and one (1988) during his previous stop at UTEP.

Using an eight-man front under Hoefer's guidance, UTEP reduced its rushing yardage allowed from 208.2 yards per game in 1999 to 153.8 ypg during the 2000 season. UTEP held five of its league opponents under 100 yards rushing. The Miners also ranked 19th nationally in pass efficiency defense.

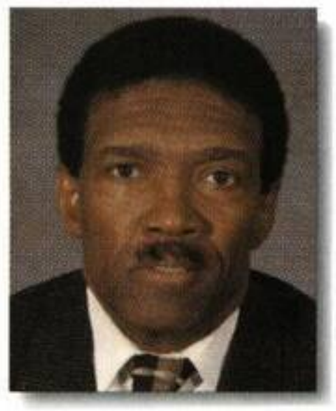
Hoefer worked for coach Spike Dykes at Texas Tech from 1994-99, where he coached the Red Raiders' outside linebackers and worked with former Baylor defensive coordinator John Goodner. Tech was bowl-eligible every season and played in the Cotton, Copper, Alamo and Independence bowls during Hoefer's tenure. Among his pupils were Marcus Coleman, a first-team All-American in 1995 who plays for the Houston Texans, and Ty Ardoin, who went on to play for the New York Giants. Hoefer also coached All-Big 12 picks Robert Johnson and Jody Brown. The Red Raiders ranked first in the nation for takeaways over a five-year period from 1993-97.

Hoefer had multiple responsibilities as an assistant at Missouri from 1989-93, working his way up from receivers coach to defensive coordinator and assistant head coach. His first term at UTEP, from 1982-88, was capped by a 10-win season and a berth in the 1988 Independence Bowl.

A native of Abilene, Texas, Hoefer stayed in his hometown and played defensive back at McMurry University, graduating in 1973. He was team captain and earned the squad's MVP honor.

Hoefer's first coaching stop was at Tarleton State from 1974-75 as a graduate assistant working with the defensive backs. He went on to coach at Big Spring (Texas) High School in 1976 and Abilene (Texas) High from 1977-80. Hoefer coached at West Texas State in 1981 before joining the UTEP staff for the first time.

Hoefer and his wife, Kathy, have three children — married daughter Alison Schupp, and sons Tyler and Bennett — and two granddaughters, Sydney and Samantha Schupp. Bennett is a sophomore defensive back on the Baylor football team, while Tyler graduated from the U.S. Naval Academy and is a second lieutenant in the Marine Corps.



Harold JACKSON

Assistant Coach Receivers

Harold Jackson, a five-time All-Pro wide receiver and 10-year National Football League coaching veteran, is in his third season as Baylor's wide receivers coach.

In his first year on the BU sideline, Jackson coached All-Big 12 performer Robert Quiroga, who snagged a team-high 42 receptions for 490 yards and four scores, and averaged 31.4 yards on 14 kickoff returns. A year later, Dominique Zeigler led the Bears in receptions (55) en route to All-Big 12 honorable mention recognition by the league's coaches.

Jackson came to Baylor after spending two seasons as Guy Morriss' receivers coach at Kentucky. In his first year at UK, wideout Derek Abney became a first-team All-Southeastern Conference performer, a feat he repeated in 2002 when he also earned first-team All-America honors. Jackson also oversaw the development of Aaron Boone and Tommy Cook, who blossomed as reliable contributors during the 2001 campaign.

He coached receivers for 10 years in the NFL with New England (1985-89), Tampa Bay (1992-93) and New Orleans (1997-99). In his first NFL season as a coach, the Patriots won the AFC championship and played in the 1986 Super Bowl. It was at New England where Jackson became acquainted with Morriss, who played for the Patriots from 1984-87 and was an assistant coach with the organization in 1988-89.

From New England, Jackson served as an assistant coach at North Carolina Central University in Durham, N.C., during the 1990 season. In 1991, he was the offensive coordinator for the New Orleans Night of the Arena Football League before returning to the NFL at Tampa Bay.

Following his two-year coaching stint with Tampa Bay, Jackson spent the 1994 season as the head coach at Virginia Union College in Richmond, Va. He then served as head coach for two seasons (1995-96) at Benedict College in Columbia, S.C., where he helped revive a football program that had been defunct for 29 years, before joining the Saints' staff.

Jackson enjoyed a sterling 16-year NFL playing career with the Los Angeles Rams (1968, 1973-77), Philadelphia Eagles (1969-72), New England Patriots (1978-81), Minnesota Vikings (1982) and Seattle Seahawks (1983). While with the Eagles, one of his teammates was Baylor defensive coordinator Bill Bradley. All-told, Jackson played on eight playoff teams as a pro.

His career totals include 579 receptions for 10,372 yards and 76 touchdowns. Jackson had 29 career 100-yard games and three 1,000-yard seasons. He ranks 16th in league history in receiving yardage. Jackson led the NFL in receptions in 1972 and in receiving yardage in both 1969 and 1972.

A native of Hattiesburg, Miss., Jackson played his collegiate football at Jackson State University and is a member of both the Mississippi and JSU Sports Hall of Fames. A 1968 JSU graduate, his hometown of Hattiesburg held Harold Jackson Day and presented him with a key to the city. Over the years, he has been active as a speaker for the Fellowship of Christian Athletes and the Hattiesburg Department of Recreation.

Harold and his wife, Carolyn, have one son, Brandon.

Chris LANCASTER

Assistant Coach

Offensive Line

Offensive line coach Chris Lancaster enters the third year of his third tour of duty at Baylor.

The Bears' 2003 offensive line, which relied on seven underclassmen among its 10-man rotation, helped pave the way for the school's first 1,000-yard rusher since 1995 in Rashad Armstrong. Baylor's 2003 ground attack ranked as the school's most productive since the 1998 campaign. Lancaster's 2004 o-line protected enough for BU's quarterbacks to set school single-season records for completion percentage and total completions.

He coached offensive tackles, tight ends and special teams at Baylor from 1993-96, a stint which included a trip to the 1994 Alamo Bowl. One of Lancaster's former pupils, offensive tackle Fred Miller, was a two-year All-Southwest Conference performer and currently is the starting right tackle for the National Football League's Chicago Bears. Lancaster also was a graduate assistant coach at Baylor (1990-91), working with tight ends and linebackers, and the Bears played in the 1991 Copper Bowl.

A native of Fort Rucker, Ala., Lancaster grew up in Atlanta, Ga. He was Clemson's starting fullback from 1985-87 before suffering a career-ending injury. Lancaster finished his career at Clemson as a student assistant coach in 1988-89 and worked with the running backs while earning his management degree in 1989. During his five seasons at Clemson, the Tigers won three ACC championships (1986-88) and played in five bowl games — the Independence, Gator (twice) and Citrus (twice).

After serving as a graduate assistant at Baylor for two seasons, Lancaster returned to Clemson in 1992 as a graduate assistant and worked with the Tigers' tight ends.

Following his second stint in Waco, Lancaster coached the offensive line for two seasons at both Sam Houston State (1997-98) and McNeese State (1999-2000). McNeese State went to the 2000 Division I-AA playoffs and led the conference in both rushing and total offense. Lancaster protégé Wes Hines earned All-America honors and signed a contract with the Minnesota Vikings.

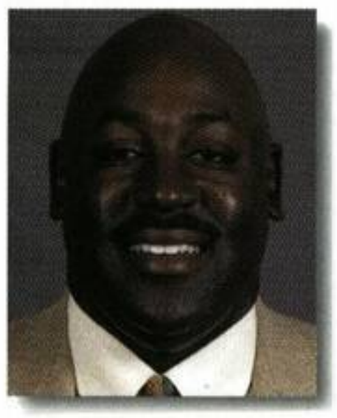
While at Sam Houston State, in addition to guiding the offensive line, Lancaster was the running game coordinator in 1997 and the offensive coordinator in 1998. He coached Bearkat offensive lineman Greg Studdard, who played in the NFL with both Atlanta and the New York Giants.

In 2001, Lancaster began a two-year stay at Kentucky. After coaching the defensive ends for Guy Morriss in 2001, he returned to overseeing the offensive line the following season.

As UK's defensive ends coach, Lancaster mentored Dennis Johnson, named the "Best Defensive Player" in the Southeastern Conference by The Southeastern Post magazine. Johnson led the SEC in tackles for loss, quarterback sacks and fumbles caused, in addition to setting a single-season school record for sacks. Johnson was selected by the Arizona Cardinals in the NFL Draft and Kentucky's other starting end, Chris Demaree, signed a free-agent contract with San Diego.

In his final season with the Wildcats, Lancaster's offensive line, led by first-team All-SEC standout Antonio Hall, provided the blocking for Artose Pinner to lead the SEC in rushing.

Lancaster and his wife, Kathi, have two daughters, Kaila and Klemson.



Wesley McGRIFF

Assistant Coach

Cornerbacks/

Recruiting Coord.

The highly energetic and charismatic Wesley McGriff enters his third season as Baylor's cornerbacks coach after spending the previous two years at Kentucky. The 2005 season will also be his second as coach Guy Morriss' recruiting coordinator.

McGriff's corners were a key reason for Baylor's improved pass defense, which jumped to No. 62 in the final 2004 NCAA statistics after a 101st-place finish a year earlier. Braelon Davis, a redshirt freshman cornerback on BU's 2004 squad, earned Sporting News All-Big 12 freshman team honors for his rookie year efforts.

A defensive coach for most of his career, having served as a defensive coordinator at two schools, McGriff spent the 2001 season coaching the Wildcats' running backs. With his runners leading the way, UK averaged 4.1 yards per carry, the teams' best mark since the 1995 season. The Wildcat running backs did not lose any fumbles to the opponents in 2001.

The following year, McGriff returned to the defensive side of the ball as UK's cornerbacks coach.

McGriff spent the 2000 campaign just a few miles from Lexington as the secondary and punt return team coach at Eastern Kentucky University in Richmond. The Colonels ranked fourth nationally in total defense, fifth in scoring defense and ninth in passing yardage allowed. EKU posted four shutouts during the season. McGriff's standout sophomore safety, Yeremiah Bell, was a first-team All-Ohio Valley Conference pick.

He coached from 1995-99 at Kentucky State University in Frankfort, where he was assistant head coach, defensive coordinator and secondary coach. McGriff's defenses achieved numerous national top 10 statistical rankings, leading the nation in total defense in 1995 and pass yardage defense in 1997. In 1998, he was named the American Football Coaches Association's NCAA Division II National Assistant Coach of the Year.

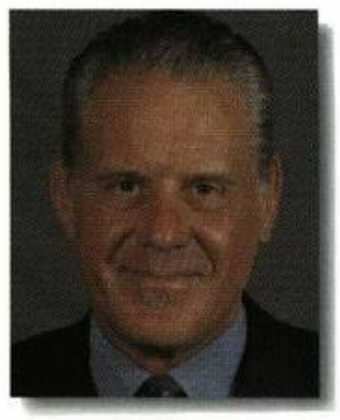
Three of McGriff's players have played in the National Football League including Cletius Hunt (Green Bay), Devin Wyann (New England) and Michael Mason (San Francisco). In addition, Cary Scott was drafted by the Minnesota Vikings in 2001. While at KSU, he also served as a professor in the Health, Physical Education and Recreation Department.

McGriff began his coaching career at his alma mater, Savannah State (Ga.) University. He was a graduate assistant with the Tigers' running backs in 1990, moved into a full-time role as secondary coach in 1991-92 and added defensive coordinator responsibilities in 1993-94. During the 1994 season, McGriff's unit ranked sixth nationally in total defense. He also was head coach of the school's baseball team for four seasons (1992-95), winning a pair of conference championships and twice being named league Coach of the Year.

A native of Tifton, Ga., McGriff played cornerback, running back and wide receiver for the Tift County High School state championship team. He began his collegiate playing career at South Carolina State for one year, then transferred to Savannah State, where he started for three seasons as an outside linebacker.

McGriff was team captain, was chosen the team's defensive MVP and was named SSC's 1989 Male Academic Athlete of the Year. In addition to his bachelor's degree in criminal justice from Savannah State in 1990, he holds a master's degree in public administration from Georgia Southern University (1993). McGriff graduated with distinction from GSU.

McGriff was commissioned as a second lieutenant in the U.S. Army in 1990 and was a member of the Army Reserves until 2001. McGriff and his wife, Karen, have a son, Jaylen.



Don WNEK

Assistant Coach

Defensive Line

Don Wnek, a specialist in pass rush and defensive line techniques with more than 25 seasons of college and professional coaching experience on his resume, joined the Baylor coaching staff as defensive line coach for the 2005 season.

Wnek spent the 2004 football season as the director of football of operations at the University of Indiana and worked as a federal law officer for the Department of Homeland Security in 2003.

Prior to his stint with the U.S. government, Wnek was the defensive line coach for the Canadian Football League's (CFL) Hamilton Tiger-Cats in 2002, his second tour of duty with the organization. He served as the co-defensive coordinator and defensive line coach with the XFL's Birmingham Thunderbolts in 2001.

His collegiate coaching experience includes stops at Northern Illinois and the University of Nevada. Wnek coached at NIU, his alma mater, from 1978 to 1981, and at Nevada from 1982 to 1989. During his tenure at NIU, he coached the outside linebackers and defensive line while with the Wolfpack he coached the defensive line and served as defensive coordinator from 1986-87. Nevada won the Big Sky title in 1986 with Wnek leading the defense and was a member of two other Big Sky championship teams during his Reno tenure.

Wnek was out of football in 1990, but returned to the coaching ranks in 1991, when he coached the San Antonio Riders of the World League (now NFL Europe) during the fall and the CFL's Tiger-Cats during the spring. In San Antonio, he worked alongside Baylor's defensive coordinator Bill Bradley. Wnek served on both teams coaching staffs in 1991 and 1992 before working strictly with Hamilton in 1993 and 1994. In 1995, he coached the defensive line and linebackers for the CFL's Memphis Mad Dogs, and watched as one of his pupils led the CFL in sacks.

He worked on the Montreal Alouettes' staff in 1996 and 1997, coaching the defensive line in 1996, when one of his players again paced the CFL in sacks, and the offensive line in 1997 before a one-year stint as defensive coordinator for the British Columbia Lions in 1998. The B.C. defense ranked first in the CFL in turnovers, interceptions and fewest rushing touchdowns allowed and featured five All-Western Division All-Stars under his guidance.

Wnek returned to the Alouettes in 1999 to coach the defensive line and stayed through 2001 before returning to the Tiger-Cats in 2002. Montreal won the Eastern Division title in 2000 and played in the Grey Cup. His 2000 line spearheaded a defense that led the CFL in nine categories including most sacks and fewest points allowed. From 1995 through 2000, the defenses in which he worked with topped the CFL in sacks every season.

A three-year letterwinner at defensive end at Northern Illinois (1970-72), Wnek led the Huskies with 11 tackles for loss totaling 70 yards during his senior season. He received his bachelor's degree in education from NIU in 1974.

Wnek's son, Eli, was a fullback and linebacker at Arizona from 1997 to 2001 and enjoyed a brief playing career with the Arena Football League's Arizona Rattlers. He is married to the former Penny Smith.

FACTS AND FIGURES

- In 2004-05, Baylor was the only Big 12 program and one of only six NCAA Division I-A institutions nationally to rank in both the top 10 of the most recent NCAA Graduation Rates report for overall student-athlete graduation success and the Directors' Cup top 25, joining Stanford, Duke, Virginia, Notre Dame and Penn State. Baylor's school-record 2004-05 graduation rate of 78 percent for all student-athletes ranked 10th among I-A institutions according to the latest NCAA figures, while its 25th-place finish in the 2004-05 Directors' Cup was its highest in the award's history.
- Baylor joined Michigan State, Tennessee and Texas as the only schools to place a team in two of the four major sports championship venues during the 2004-05 academic year: a BCS bowl, the men's final four, the women's final four and the College World Series.
- Baylor is one of only six Big 12 Conference institutions to have won an NCAA championship in a team sport since the league's inception.
- Baylor ranks fifth in regular-season Big 12 Conference titles in men's sports with eight.
- Baylor is one of only six Big 12 Conference institutions to have won a conference title in at least three different men's sports.
- Baylor is one of only five Big 12 Conference institutions to have won a conference title in at least three different women's sports.
- Since the inception of the Big 12 Conference, 16 of Baylor's 17 varsity teams have participated in postseason play.
- Baylor has finished in the top half of the Big 12 Conference all-sports standings seven of the last eight years.

BAYLOR ATHLETICS 2004-05 HIGHLIGHTS

SEPT. 26, 2004 — BETTY LOU MAYS FIELD
Anna Schuch's goal 18 seconds into overtime lifted Baylor's women's soccer team to a 2-1 victory over 22nd-ranked Texas. It was Baylor's first win over Texas since 1999.

OCT. 2, 2004 — FERRELL CENTER
Behind double-doubles from Adeline Meira and Nicole LeBlanc, Baylor's volleyball team upset 25th-ranked Kansas in four games. Meira was the difference, hitting .500 with 13 kills and 10 blocks.

OCT. 30, 2004 — FLOYD CASEY STADIUM
Shawn Bell and Dominique Zeigler connected first for a touchdown and then for a game-winning two-point conversion as Baylor's football team stunned 16th-ranked Texas A&M. It marked Baylor's first win over the Aggies since 1985 and sparked a massive celebration at Floyd Casey Stadium and throughout Waco.

NOVEMBER 13, 2004 — COTTONWOOD CREEK G.C.
Brittany Brockman finished third in a field of 127, leading Baylor's women's cross country team to a third-place finish at the NCAA South Central Regional. That same day, Bo Price of Baylor's men's cross country team finished 12th in the men's event.

DEC. 30, 2004 — WEST LAFAYETTE, IND.
Tim Bush scored 23 points as Baylor's under-manned men's basketball team shocked Purdue 73-72 in front of an ESPN+ television audience. After Purdue hit a game-tying three-pointer with four seconds remaining, Aaron Bruce hit one of two free throws with 2.4 seconds left to give the Bears the improbable road win.

APRIL 5, 2005 — INDIANAPOLIS, IND.
Sophia Young scored 26 points and Steffanie Blackmon added 22 as Baylor's women's basketball team pounded Michigan State 84-62 in the NCAA National Championship Game. The Lady Bears dominated Michigan State from the early going and concluded their 2004-2005 season with 20 consecutive victories.

MAY 7, 2005 — LUBBOCK, TEXAS
Sean Reddick tied for 26th as Baylor's women's golf team tied for 13th at the NCAA Central Regional. It was Baylor's sixth consecutive NCAA appearance.

MAY 14, 2005 — MANHATTAN, KAN.
Lakadron Ivery finished second in three different events at the Big 12 Conference Outdoor Track & Field Championships. Ivery posted a long-jump mark of 6.61 meters, second in school history. She also finished second in the 100 menters and the 200 meters.

MAY 21, 2005 — SOUTH BEND, IND.
Colton Turnquist carded a final-round 64 to finish 20th individually and guide Baylor's men's golf team to a 17th-place finish at the NCAA Central Regional. It was Baylor's eighth straight NCAA appearance.

MAY 22, 2005 — AUBURN, ALA.
Chelsi Lake went 2-for-3 with two RBI as Baylor's softball team defeated Florida State 5-3 in the championship game of the NCAA Auburn Regional. The Lady Bears claimed the program's first NCAA regional title and advanced to the NCAA Waco Super Regional, where they eventually lost to second-seeded California in three games.

MAY 28, 2005 — ATLANTA, GA.
Zuzana Zemenova became Baylor's first women's tennis singles national champion with a straight-set victory over Audra Cohen of Northwestern. Just a freshman, Zemenova also led the women's team to a round-of-16 finish in the NCAA Tournament.

MAY 30, 2005 — COLLEGE STATION, TEXAS
Benedikt Dorsch added an explanation point to an already stellar collegiate career by claiming the NCAA men's tennis singles championship with a straight-set victory over San Diego's Pierrik Ysern. Dorsch, the second consecutive singles champion from Baylor, also led the men's team to a national runner-up finish.

JUNE 11, 2005 — SACRAMENTO, CALIF.
One day after clocking the world's fastest 400-meter time of the year to date, Darold Williamson posted a time of 44.51 seconds to claim the national title in the event. Williamson, who anchored the USA's gold-medal-winning 4x400-meter relay team at the 2004 Olympics, finished .24 seconds ahead of the field.

JUNE 13, 2005 — BAYLOR BALLPARK
After dropping the first game of the NCAA Waco Super Regional, Baylor's baseball team rebounded to win the next two games against 13th-ranked Clemson and advanced to the College World Series for the first time since 1978. The Bears went on to reach the national semifinals, the program's best finish ever.

FLOYD CASEY STADIUM

Beautiful Floyd Casey Stadium is home to the Baylor Bears football team. The stadium is continually upgraded to give Baylor a facility necessary to be competitive in the Big 12 Conference.

New in 2005 is the completion of the Grant Teaff Plaza. Opened in 2002, the plaza originally was located at the base of the press box on the west side of the stadium. Over the past two years, the plaza has been expanded to wrap completely around the stadium. The centerpiece of the plaza is a statue honoring former Baylor head coach and College Football Hall of Fame member Grant Teaff, the program's winningest coach who led Baylor to two Southwest Conference titles.

Last season, Baylor unveiled a new synthetic turf playing surface at Floyd Casey Stadium. After six seasons of play on SportGrass, the natural surface was replaced with the newest generation of artificial turf on the market, the Prestige System playing surface.

Stadium renovations have been constant recently at Floyd Casey. In 2002, Baylor added a 23-by-31-foot LED video screen going in the south end zone. The project included the addition of a state-of-the-art sound system and new digital scoreboards in both end zones.

Baylor's locker room got a face lift in 2001, when a $2 million facility, the largest in the Big 12, was completed.

Baylor added a state-of-the-art luxury suite and pressbox structure on the West side in 1999. One year prior, the team meeting room area also underwent a complete remodeling.

In 1995 the entire façade was sandblasted and painted. In 1990, new lights, expanded and improved restrooms, and new concession stands were completed.

The Carl and Thelma Casey Athletic Center now houses departmental offices, locker rooms, training rooms, weight facilities, a video studio and meeting facilities.

The state-of-the-art facility was opened in 1991. Other renovation projects continue as the stadium enters its 55th year of service to Baylor.

After 39 years of being called Baylor Stadium, 1989 was the stadium's first full year under the name Floyd Casey Stadium.

The name change officially took place during halftime ceremonies of the 1988 Homecoming game with Arkansas when it was announced that longtime University supporter and trustee the late Carl B. Casey of Dallas and his wife, Thelma, contributed $5 million to the stadium renovation project in honor of his father Floyd Casey.

The generous Casey donation was part of an $8 million campaign.

After World War II the Baylor Stadium Corporation was formed and began a campaign to build a stadium for the University. The corporation launched a bond sales program and was able to raise $1.5 million for construction costs. The Bears moved to Baylor Stadium in 1950.

The first game played in the 50,000-seat stadium was Sept. 30, 1950, a 34-7 Baylor victory over the Houston Cougars, then, an independent team. The initial Southwest Conference game was Nov. 4, 1950, a 27-20 win over Texas A&M. The largest crowd to see at home was the 1995 A&M game when 51,218 fans jammed the stadium to watch the Aggies top the Bears 24-9.

Many improvements and additions have been made to the stadium over the years.

From 1972 to 1997, the Bears played on an AstroTurf surface at Floyd Casey Stadium.

During the 1970s, the beautiful and comfortable Letterman's Lounge was built on the stadium's west side with funds provided by former athletes. That facility received a facelift in 1995.

An eight-year project to change from worn wooden to modern aluminum bleacher was finished in 1981.

Prior to the building of Baylor Stadium in 1950, several playing sites were employed by the Bears. The first Bear football squad was formed in 1899, but no records are available to prove where the team played. Old newspaper clippings and yearbook articles only indicate the first three seasons were played on an extremely rough field close to the school.

From 1902 to 1925, with the exception of 1906 when football was banned on campus because it was deemed too violent, the Bears played most of their games at Carroll Field, an on-campus facility.

An unknown number of games were played at the old Cotton Palace during this period.

The Bears played at the Cotton Palace from 1926-29 before returning to Carroll Field from 1930-35.

The team moved off the main campus for good in 1936 when it began calling the newly built Waco Stadium home.

Waco Stadium was renamed Municipal Stadium in 1942, and it was where BU played through 1949 except for a break from 1943-44 because of the war effort.

HISTORY OF THE GOLDEN WAVE MARCHING BAND

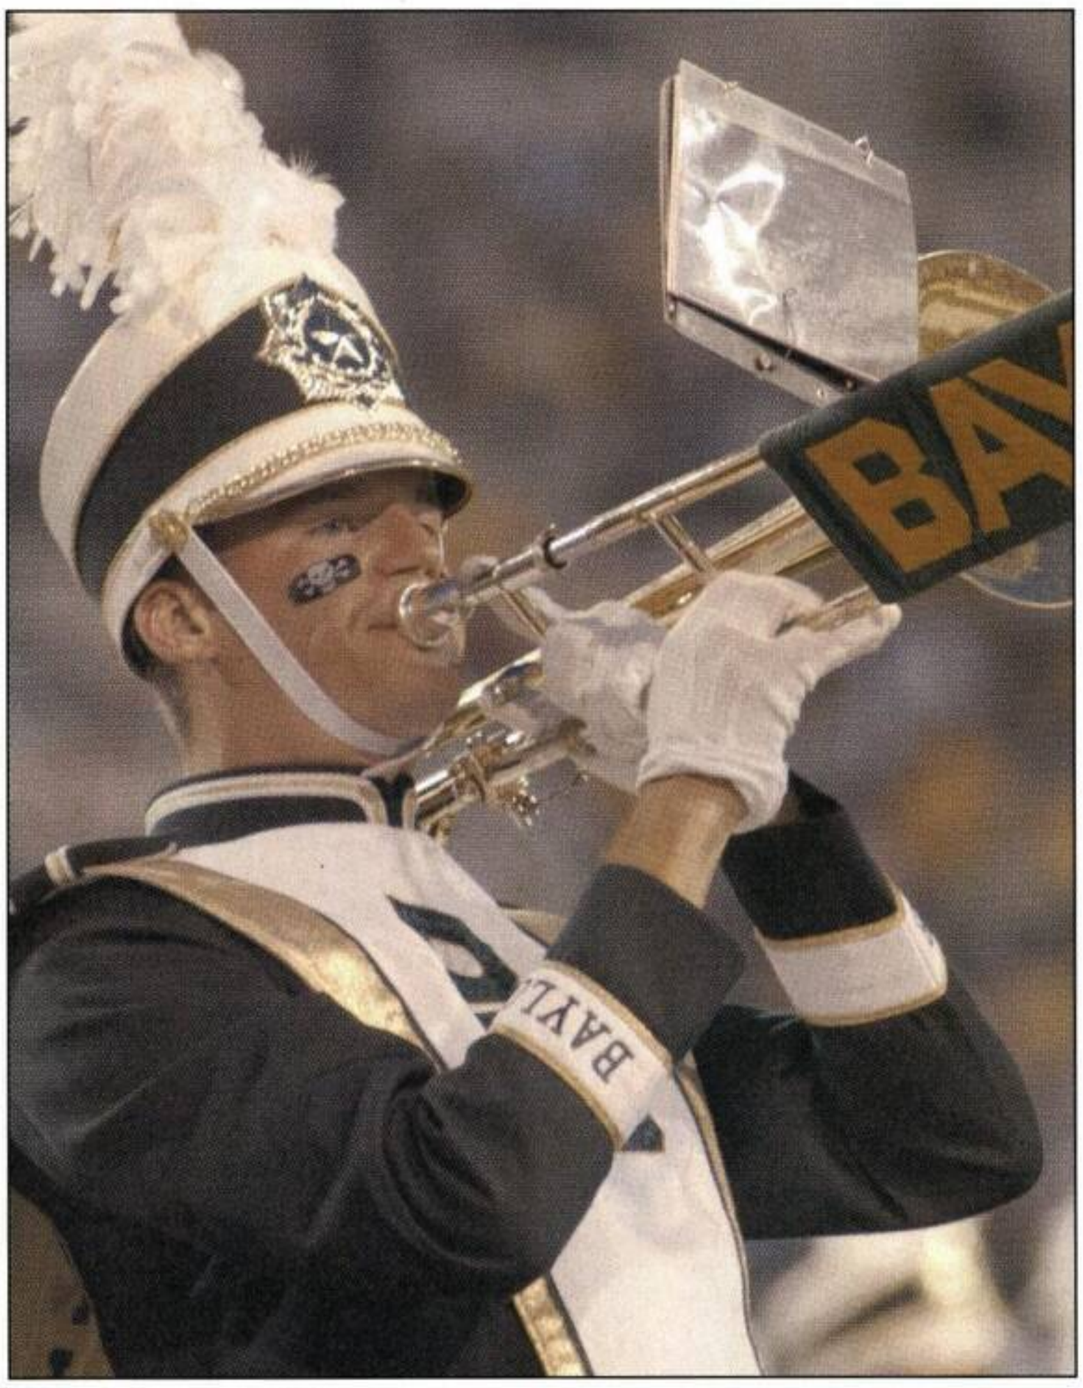
For nearly one hundred years, the Golden Wave Band has been an integral part of Baylor University, but it was not until 1928 that new uniforms inspired a lasting name, 'The Golden Wave.' That fall, under the direction of Everett McCracken, the Baylor Marching Band introduced its new golden uniforms at a Baylor-SMU football game, and, in the spring of 1929, the 43-member group made a tour of west Texas on behalf of the Greater Baylor Campaign. A reporter wrote that the band seemed to be sweeping across the land like a golden wave. The name Golden Wave Band was born, and this season celebrates the 74th anniversary of its use to describe the Baylor University Marching Band!

Prior to 1929, an active band program had been part of campus life at Baylor for more than 25 years. A 28-piece regulation military band was organized in 1903 under the direction of Charles Parker and remained part of the Baylor R.O.T.C. program until the end of World War I. At that time the military division was dissolved and the organization became known as the Baylor Bear Band. Like many band programs in the nation, The Golden Wave suffered due to the World Wars. Men such as R.D. Perry, Gid Waldrop, and R. I. Morse provided leadership and stability during these formative years.

The Golden Wave Band began to flourish after WWII. The quality of the Golden Wave Band received international recognition under the leadership of Donald I. Moore whom came to Baylor in 1948. During Professor Moore's 23 year tenure, the band accompanied the football team to many bowl appearances, represented Baylor at Baptist meetings around the world, and built a membership of 135 members, more than tripling the size of the original Golden Wave Band. Dr. Moore was also noted for his original marches and sacred compositions.

Gene C. Smith, a Baylor graduate, became director of The Golden Wave in 1969 upon Prof. Moore's retirement. Smith's halftime shows were filled with energy and excitement, which helped the organization to continue its modern growth. With this growth came the opportunity for separate concert bands in the spring for broadening the musical opportunities for all students. This accomplishment enabled the founding of the Baylor Wind Ensemble. Richard Floyd became Director of Bands at Baylor in the fall of 1972 after a highly successfully career in the Richardson Independent School District. During Professor Floyd 's tenure the Golden Wave performed for two Cotton Bowls and the Peach Bowl. It was during this time that the Baylor Wind Ensemble developed into one of the premiere collegiate musical organizations in the United States receiving acclaim for its performances and recordings at conferences across the nation.

Michael Haithcock was appointed to that position in 1982 after serving the program for four years as the first Assistant Director of Bands. He directed the Golden Wave Band through the 1989 season. Under his direction, the band grew from 188 members to a peak of 285 members in the 1985 and 1986 seasons. While continuing the many Baylor traditions, the band introduced the corps-style concepts of marching and arranging during these years while performing at the Liberty and Bluebonnet bowls in support of Coach Grant Teaff's outstanding football teams. The highly popular Courtside Players Basketball and Volleyball band was also founded under his leadership, as was the highly successful alumni band program in 1985. As the marching band grew, the total band program also grew with the addition of a third concert band and a graduate program.



This growth led to a re-organization of the program, and Mr. Haithcock, while remaining Director of Bands, relinquished the athletic band responsibilities to concentrate on the further development of the overall band program.

Following Haithcock's tenure, Jay Gilbert, who came to Baylor as Associate Director of Bands in 1988, directed the Golden Wave Band from 1988 to 1991. Later, Chris Knighten, a Baylor graduate, was appointed Interim Director for the 1992 marching season and led the band in performances at the Copper Bowl. In 1993, Gerald Luckhardt came to Baylor University as Associate Director of Bands and Director of the Golden Wave Band. Mr. Luckhardt's leadership prepared the Golden Wave Band for the beginning of a new era in Baylor University athletics—the Big 12. Luckhardt also led the band in performances at the Alamo Bowl, secured Floyd Casey Stadium as the host site for the Texas State U.I.L. Marching Contest beginning in the fall of 1996, and inaugurated the "Golden Wave Band: In Concert" series. In the fall of 1997, Jeffrey Grogan assumed leadership of the Golden Wave Band and was appointed as Associate Director of Bands. In his five years at Baylor, he instilled new standards of musicianship and devoted much to the success of the band program.

In 1999, Matthew O. Smith joined The Golden Wave as the first Assistant Director and Director of the Courtside Players. He served as Interim Director of The Golden Wave during the 2001 season. In the Fall of 2001, Isaiah Odajima, a Baylor Alumnus, was appointed as the new Assistant Director of The Golden Wave and Director of the Courtside Players.

In 2002, Barry Kraus (Master of Music, Baylor Class of 1999) was appointed as Director of the Golden Wave Band and Associate Director of Bands. In addition to directing the Golden Wave Band, Dr. Kraus conducts the Baylor Symphonic Band and teaches courses in the School of Music. Prior to his appointment at Baylor, Mr. Kraus served as Assistant to the Director of Bands, Assistant Director of the Longhorn Band, and Director of the Longhorn Basketball Band at the University of Texas. Also in 2002, the Golden Wave welcomed Dr. Kevin Sedatole (Baylor Class of 1985) as the new Director of Bands and Conductor of the Baylor Wind Ensemble. Prior to joining the Baylor faculty, Dr. Sedatole was the Associate Director of Bands and Director of the Longhorn Band at the University of Texas at Austin. In the following year, The Golden Wave welcomed a new Assistant Director, Mr. Christopher Bianco. Mr. Bianco conducts the Courtside Players and the University Concert Band.

The Baylor Band program has been a vital part of campus spirit and cultural activities. On the field, in the concert hall, and in the classroom, the Baylor University Bands have become a model of excellence with graduates "flinging the green and gold" in all walks of life. COACH (ALMA MATER)	SPORT	YEAR AT BU	04-05 RECORD	CAREER RECORD
JIM BARNES (McNeese State, 1994)	Volleyball	2nd	12-19	175-117

Second-year head coach has recorded five, 20-win seasons during his career.

SCOTT DREW (Butler, 1993)	Men's Basketball	3rd	9-19	37-51

Is in Year Three of rebuilding Baylor's men's basketball program. Exceeded all expectations by leading Bears to eight wins with a depleted roster in 2003-2004 and a win at Purdue last season.

SYLVIA FERDON (Wisconsin-Oshkosh, 1968)	Women's Golf	12th

In 2004, led Baylor to first-ever appearance at the NCAA Championships. Baylor has made six straight NCAA regional appearances.

TODD HARBOUR (Baylor, 1981)	Track/Cross Country	6th

In first season as track & field head coach. Also serves as cross country head coach. Guided women's cross country team to a 16th-place national ranking in 2004 and back-to-back NCAA Championship appearances.

MATT KNOLL (Washburn, 1989)	Men's Tennis	10th	33-1	217-65

Has guided program to eight straight NCAA Tournament appearances, highlighted by the school's first-ever NCAA team title in 2004 and a runner-up finish in 2005, five top 10 finishes and five Big 12 titles over the past six seasons, and the NCAA singles champion in each of the past two seasons.

GLENN MOORE (Northwestern [La.] State, 1993)	Softball	6th	51-14	353-142

Has guided Baylor to 214 victories in five seasons at Baylor, the best five-year stretch in the program's history. Also has led the Lady Bears to consecutive NCAA Tournament appearances and a regional title in 2005.

GUY MORRISS (TCU, 1973)	Football	3rd	3-8	15-31

Guided Baylor to an upset of 16th-ranked Texas A&M in a memorable 35-34 overtime thriller last fall. Win snapped a 20-year drought against the Aggies.

KIM MULKEY-ROBERTSON (Louisiana Tech, 1984)	Women's Basketball	6th	33-3	131-38

Women's Basketball Hall of Famer led Lady Bears to school's first national title in a women's sport in 2005 as the Lady Bears won their final 20 games, including a rout of Michigan State in the championship game.

GREG PRIEST (East Texas State, 1993)	Men's Golf	3rd

Led the Bears to an eighth straight NCAA Regional appearance in second season at the helm.

JOEY SCRIVANO (Eastern Michigan, 1997)	Women's Tennis	4th	24-6	108-48

Led Baylor to 2005 Big 12 title with an 11-0 league record. Also guided Baylor to the round of 16 in the NCAA Tournament.

STEVE SMITH (Baylor, 1986)	Baseball	12th	46-24	418-258-1

Former Bear pitcher guided program to its best season ever in 2005 as Baylor won its second Big 12 title and reached the College World Series for the first time since 1978. Baylor finished fourth nationally.

GEORGE VAN LINDER (Western Michigan, 1990)	Soccer	3rd	7-9-2	107-66-13

Entering third season at Baylor after a 2004 season that included Baylor's first win against Texas since 1999.

ELLEN WHITE (Baylor, 1983)	Equestrian	1st

Aluma and esteemed private riding instructor is Baylor's first equestrian coach.

All records prior to 2005-2006 academic year.

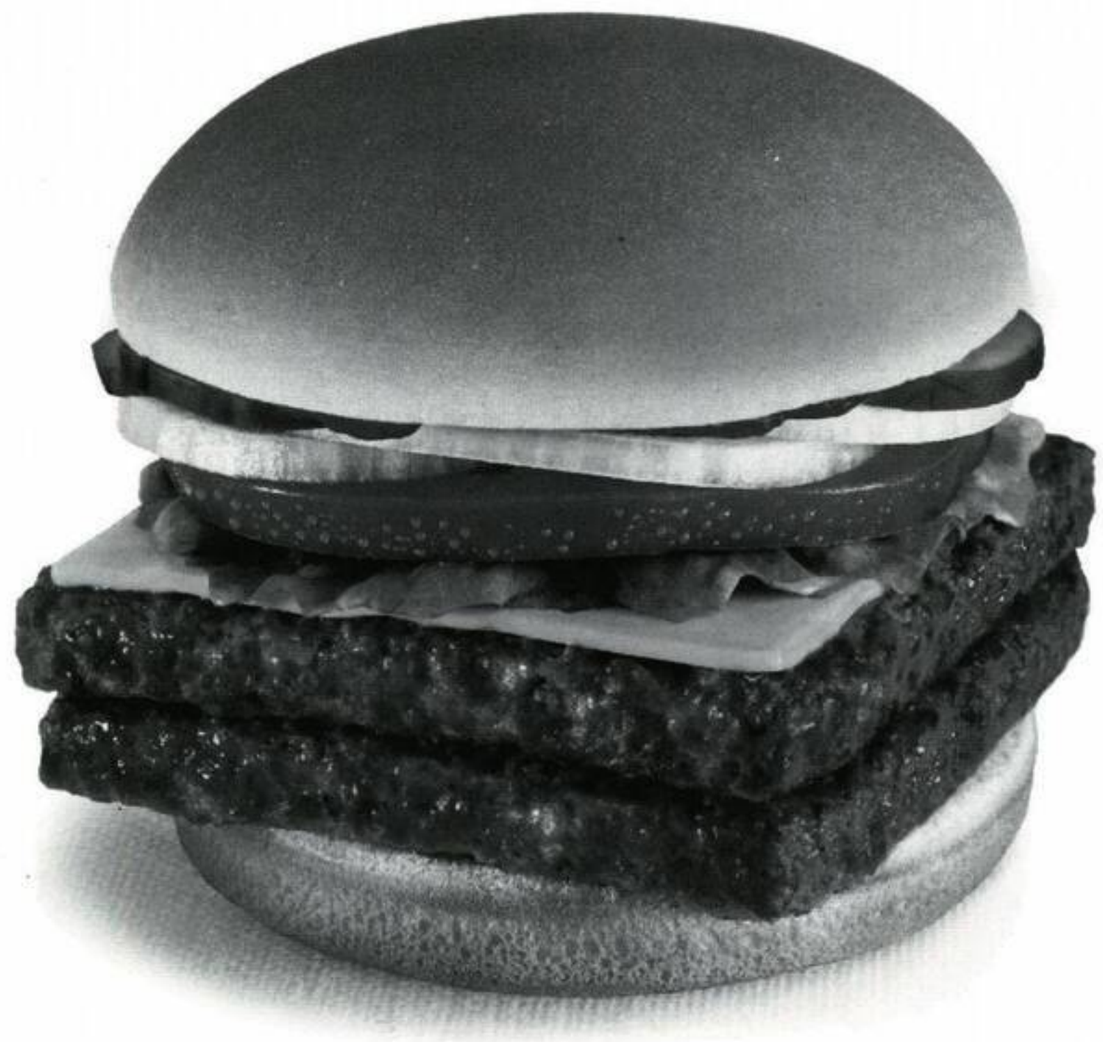
Do a hamburger made right when you order. Not an hour or a minute before. Right when you order. At the exact millisecond you finish saying, "I'll have a Classic Double® with cheese." Only then, when the "eese" part of "cheese" leaves your lips, we begin. Unless you say "please." Then we start after the "ease." Maybe that's why our hamburgers are the epitome of what tastes right.



Do what tastes right.™

BAYLOR-ISP SPORTS

America's Home for College Sports

Baylor University and ISP Sports entered into a seven-year agreement during the spring of 2005 that will provide the company, recognized as the national leader in collegiate sports marketing, with exclusive multi-media rights for the school's highly successful intercollegiate athletics program.

With the partnership, the university is guaranteed an annual rights fee and will share in additional revenues as well. In consideration, ISP Sports receives the rights to all sales and marketing opportunities associated with Baylor sports, including a radio network for all sports, print advertising in various athletic department publications and all signage in university athletic facilities.

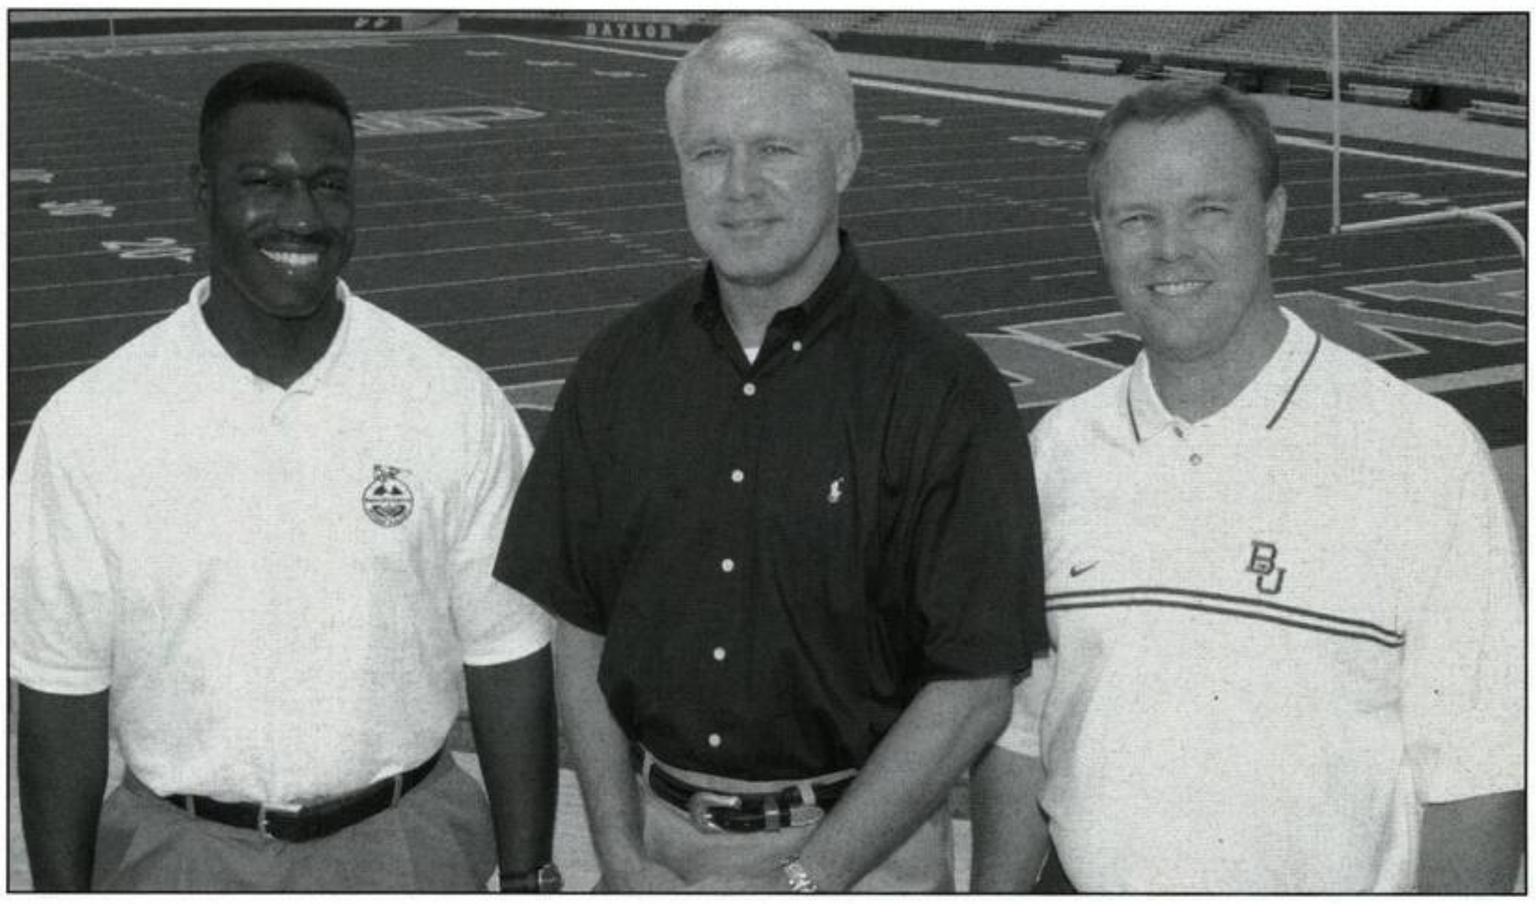
"We are very excited about partnering with ISP Sports," Baylor athletic Director Ian McCaw said. "The company has an exemplary track record of success and affords Baylor athletics an opportunity to enhance revenue, strengthen the Baylor Radio Network and expand our corporate partner relationships."

Baylor is the 25th major NCAA athletic program to align itself with ISP Sports, which is based in Winston-Salem, N.C., and joins other prominent NCAA Division I-A institutions such as Auburn, Georgia Tech, Syracuse, UCLA, Vanderbilt and Wake Forest as ISP clients.

"We are delighted to be associated with a university of such high academic and athletic quality," ISP Sports president and CEO Ben Sutton said. "We look forward to working with Ian and his leadership team, and hope to be an integral part of Baylor athletics for years to come."

Shawn Becket is in his first year at Baylor and serves as General Manager of the Baylor project as well as an ISP Assistant Vice President. He came to Waco from Auburn where he worked with the Auburn Network, also an ISP property, for six years. He is a 1996 graduate of The Ohio University and obtained a Master of Higher Education degree from Auburn University in 1998. Becket recently married the former Kristin Walsten of Manhattan, Kan.

Kris Kassel (Indiana 1998) is the Associate General Manager of Baylor-ISP Sports having joined the staff from the University of Evansville, where he served as the Aces' Associate Athletic Director for External Affairs. He also has previous experience on the staffs for Crimson Tide Sports Marketing and Tiger Sports Properties. Doug McNamee (Baylor, 2003) serves as a marketing assistant and the "Voice of the Bears," John Morris (Baylor 1980), also is a member of the Baylor-ISP team.



J.J. JOE, RICKY THOMPSON, JOHN MORRIS

Morris enters his 19th year broadcasting Baylor football and men's basketball. The Kentucky native also produces the daily "State Farm Baylor SportsBeat," daily Big 12 reports, and co-hosts the award-winning "Inside Baylor Sports" television show. He also serves as moderator for "Guy Talk," with head football coach Guy Morriss, during the season and the "State Farm Baylor Hour" January through May. This is Morris' 11th year as the signature voice of Baylor athletics since succeeding the legendary Frank Fallon. In November 2002, John was presented the Frank Fallon Sportsmanship Award by the Greater Waco Chamber of Commerce.

Three-time Academic All-American J.J. Joe returns for his second season on the broadcast crew as color analyst. The Bears' leading passer for four consecutive seasons from 1990-1993, Joe graduated as Baylor's career passing and total offense leader and is one of the school's most decorated student-athletes as a three-time Academic All-American. He currently works as a Vice President-Commercial Banking for Bank of Texas in Dallas and resides in Hurst, Texas.

Ricky Thompson returns for his sixth season providing sideline color and analysis. Thompson is a former SWC long jump champion and the Bears' leading receiver in 1975 before embarking on a seven-year NFL career. Thompson is a member of the Baylor Athletic Hall of Fame and is currently Executive Vice President and Director of the First National Bank of Central Texas.

Baylor's radio team also includes the multi-talented Craig Harper, who, in his 19th year as a member of the crew, serves as Executive Producer of the football broadcasts. Harper is the award-winning Director of Engineering for the Belo Corporation in Dallas and lives in Frisco, Texas. Bobby Reynolds returns as broadcast engineer. Reynolds has extensive experience engineering for the Host Communications/ NCAA Radio Network.

For additional information on the multi-media rights held by the Baylor-ISP Network or for corporate partnership/advertising opportunities, call 254.710.3076 or visit us on the web at www.BaylorBears.com. Every play of Baylor Football 2005 plus "Guy Talk" and the "State Farm Baylor SportsBeat" are available worldwide on the internet at the official web site of Baylor Athletics, www.BaylorBears.com.

INSIDE BAYLOR SPORTS

"Inside Baylor Sports," the award winning weekly TV show that covers all aspects of Baylor athletics, returns for its seventh season during the 2005-2006 academic year.

Viewers are provided an inside look at Baylor Athletics with thorough highlights, in-depth interviews, and imaginative features on all 18 sports presented in a fast-paced, entertaining style. Co-hosts John Morris and Lori Scott Fogleman guide viewers through the best coverage of Baylor athletics on television.

"Inside Baylor Sports" airs Sundays, Sept. 4, 2005 through June 4, 2006, at 10:30 p.m. CT on KCEN-TV in Central Texas. The program also airs weekly throughout the region on Fox Sports Southwest at 1 p.m. each Wednesday beginning Sept. 7 and is archived on the web at www.BaylorTV.com. "Inside Baylor Sports" also may been seen on Oklahoma's statewide KSBI network of stations and nationally on College Sports Television.

2005 FUND DRIVE

The Baylor Bear Foundation Fund Drive format was overhauled in 2005, and the result was more than 500 new Bear Foundation members and over $220,000 in new dollars raised. These results were due to the great effort put forth by our "Top 100" volunteers, focusing on recruiting new members. The Bear Foundation also utilized a key group of proven veterans to solicit renewals from current members. The total result was more than $2.2 million raised in support of athletic scholarships for the 2005-2006 academic year.

BAYLOR BEAR FOUNDATION ANNUAL GIFTS

The Bear Foundation is the major fund-raising arm for annual gifts to the Baylor Department of Athletics. Thousands of individuals contribute each year to the Bear Foundation in order to provide scholarship assistance for our outstanding student-athletes.

The Baylor Bear Foundation and the Baylor Department of Athletics wish to extend a sincere thank you to all donors for their financial commitment to scholarship costs for our men and women student-athletes. As a small measure of our appreciation, we recognize the following donors who are giving at a level of $300 or more, prior to Aug. 1, 2005.

Buckalew

Cheers the Bears on the Road to Success.

For the '05 Baylor Bears, there's an open road ahead that leads to a season filled with thrills and success. There's also a road to savings…at Buckalew Chevrolet in Conroe where, for over 40 years, we've been equally proud of our Bears and our special deals on Chevy cars and trucks.

Some of Baylor's most devoted alums are the Three Bears…Papa Bear Don Buckalew ('56) and sons Donny ('81) and Denny ('82). And we want Bears fans everywhere to know that Buckalew's got the Chevy for you. So get in the game today with Chevy…driving Texas! Whether we see you at our dealership or at the stadium – Sic' em Bears!

NCAA COMPLIANCE GUIDELINES

Baylor University is committed to absolute compliance with all NCAA and Big 12 Conference rules and regulations. Institutional control of athletics is a fundamental principle of NCAA legislation. It requires each institution to conduct its intercollegiate athletics programs in accordance with the rules and regulations of the NCAA. This responsibility includes ensuring that coaches, staff, and other groups representing the institution's athletics interests comply with all applicable rules.

As a result, it is important for prospects, fans, and alumni to have some understanding of the principles governing college athletics. Below are a few definitions and rules that apply to all athletic boosters.

NCAA DEFINITIONS

REPRESENTATIVE OF ATHLETICS INTERESTS (BOOSTER)

A "representative of athletics interests" (booster) is any individual or group that has ever:

- Been a member of an organization promoting Baylor athletics.
- Contributed to the Athletics Department or its booster organizations.
- Assisted in evaluating or recruiting prospective student-athletes.
- Provided benefits (e.g. employment) to prospective student-athletes, enrolled student-athletes or their family members.
- Otherwise promoted the Baylor athletics program.

Keep in mind that it is very easy to meet one or more of these criteria and once you become an athletics representative, you retain this status FOREVER!

PROSPECTIVE STUDENT-ATHLETE

A "prospect" is a high school student that has started classes for the ninth grade and also any junior college student. A student that has not started classes for the ninth grade becomes a prospect if the student receives any benefits that the institution does not provide to all prospective students in general. An individual remains a prospect until he or she starts classes at Baylor or reports for practice, whichever occurs first.

STUDENT-ATHLETE

A "student-athlete" is a student whose enrollment was solicited by an athletics staff member with the expectation that the student will participate in intercollegiate athletics. A student not solicited by an athletics staff member becomes a student-athlete when he or she joins an intercollegiate team or reports for practice.

RECRUITING

"Recruiting" is any solicitation of a prospect or the prospect's family by an authorized institutional staff member for the purpose of securing the prospect's enrollment at Baylor and participation in athletics. Athletics representatives may not be involved in the recruitment of prospects except as outlined in the following section.

CONTACT

A "contact" is any face-to-face encounter between a prospect or the prospect's parent or legal guardian and an institutional staff member or athletics representative during which any dialogue occurs.

GUIDELINES AND REMINDERS FOR BOOSTERS

- A booster may not contact a prospect, prospect's family, friends, coach or school administrator in an attempt to evaluate or recruit the prospect.
- A booster may not expend funds to entertain or provide transportation for a prospect or the prospect's family or friends.
- A booster may not write, make phone calls, or otherwise communicate with a prospect or the prospect's family or friends for recruiting purposes.
- A booster may not contribute funds to a prospect's high school or club team as a form or recruiting inducement or if solicited to do so by a collegiate coach.
- A booster may attend a prospect's athletic events without contacting the prospect or his/her family.
- A booster may send recommendation letters and newspaper clippings about a prospect in their area to Baylor's coaches.
- A booster may continue a pre-existing relationship with a prospect and his/her family as long as the relationship pre-dated the prospect's recruitment or notoriety as an athlete and the nature of the relationship is not enhanced after their notoriety as an athlete. Such a relationship may not be for recruiting purposes.
- A booster may host a current student-athlete or an entire team in their home for a meal, but only on an occasional basis.
- A booster may provide a job for a student-athlete, but the job responsibilities must be legitimate and the pay commensurate for the task.

GUIDELINES FOR EXTRA BENEFITS

An "extra benefit" is any special arrangement by an institutional employee or athletics representative to provide a prospect, a student-athlete or his or her family with a benefit not expressly authorized by the NCAA. Boosters may not provide any special arrangement considered to be an extra benefit. Examples of extra benefits include, but are not limited to:

- Gifts of money, awards or other tangible items.
- Use of vehicles or payment of transportation costs incurred by prospect, prospect's relatives or friends.
- Free or reduced housing arrangements.
- Promise of employment after graduation or employment of prospect's relatives or friends.
- Special discounts or payment arrangements.

RECRUITING GUIDELINES FOR PROSPECTS LETTERS AND NOTES

Coaches may begin to write notes and letters to prospects beginning September 1 of their junior year in high school (September 15 after sophomore year for men's basketball prospects).

PHONE CALLS

- Prospect Calling: A coach may receive a call initiated by a prospect and paid for by the prospect at any time, including the prospect's freshman or sophomore years. Prospects may call coaches collect or by dialing 800-BAYLORU only after July 1 after their junior year.
- Football: Coaches may call a prospect once in May of their junior year and then begin making regular phone calls September 1 after their junior year. At some times of the year, calls are limited to once per week while at others calls are unlimited.
- Men's Basketball: Coaches may call a prospect once on or after June 15 of his sophomore year until July 31 of his junior year, then two calls beginning August 1 before senior year in high school.
- Women's Basketball: Coaches may call a prospect once in April and once in May of her junior year. Then they may make one call from June 1-20 after junior year and one call June 21-30 of junior year, three calls to a prospect during July following her junior year, and thereafter no more than one call per week.
- Other Sports: Coaches may call a prospect once in March of their junior year, then once per week beginning July 1 after their junior year.

UNOFFICIAL VISITS

There are no limits on the number of unofficial (unpaid) visits to Baylor a prospect may make and no age restriction on who may make unofficial visits. At each unofficial visit, a prospect may receive three (3) complimentary admissions to a home athletic event. No other expenses may be paid by Baylor. At certain times of the year, unofficial visits are prohibited so please coordinate your visit with the coaching staff.

OFFICIAL VISITS

A prospect may only make a total of five official (paid) visits and only one official visit to Baylor. A prospect may not make an official visit until the first day of classes of their senior year (January 1 of junior year for men's basketball prospects). All official visits will be coordinated by the coaching staffs.

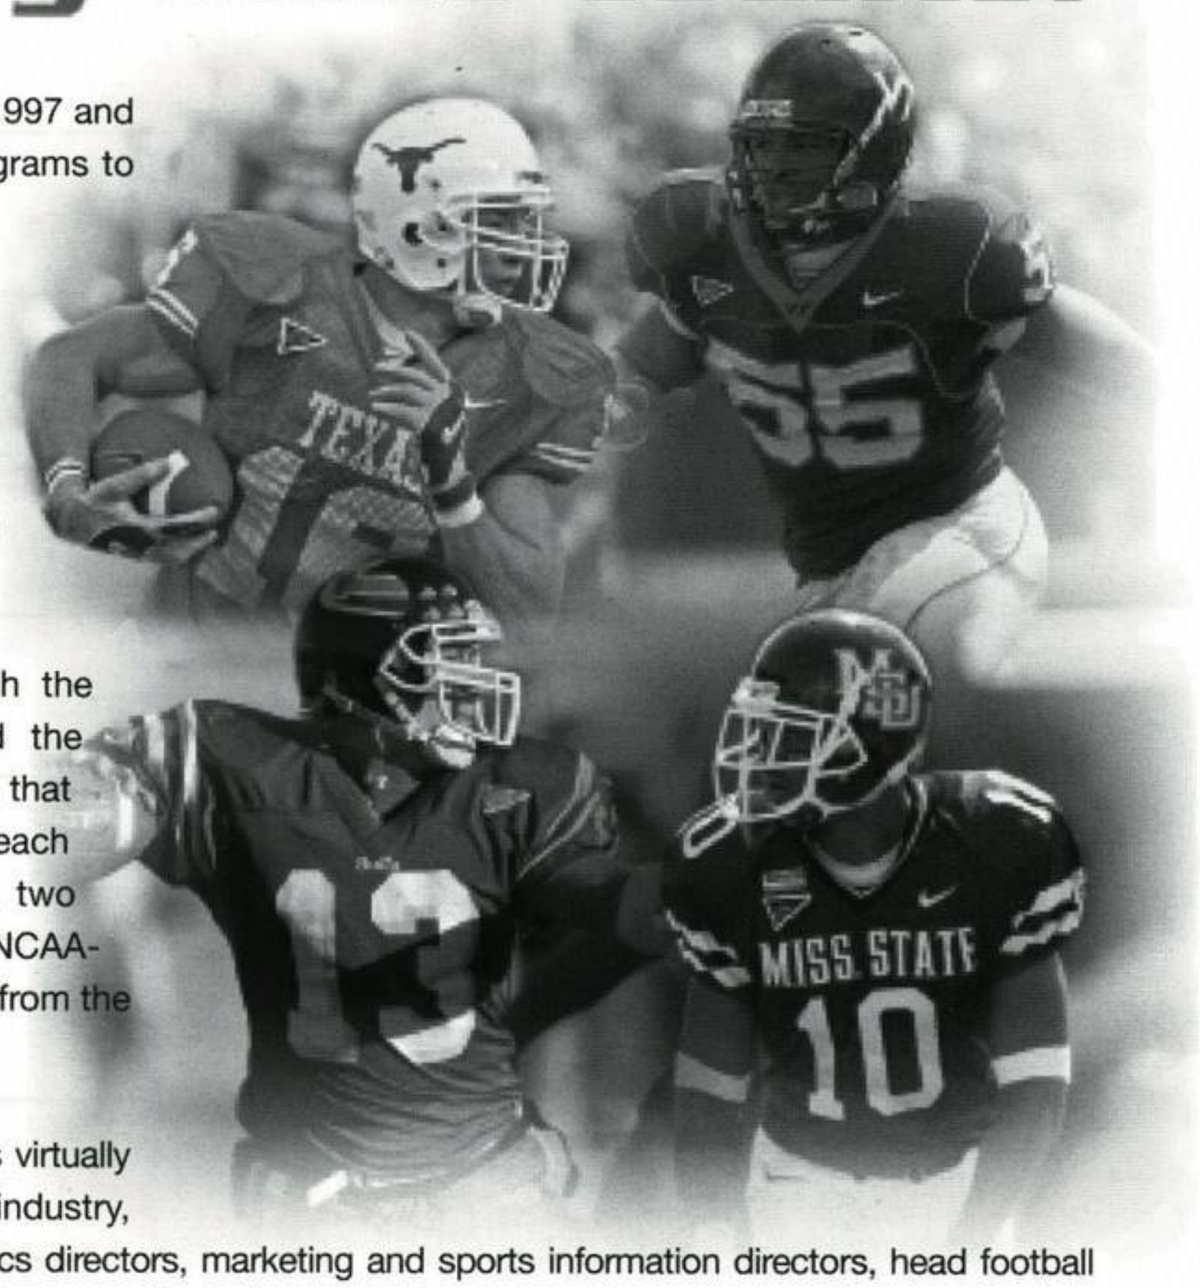
NCAA® Football
Every Game Counts!



NCAA Football became the official voice for college football in 1997 and is continuing to expand promotional and brand-marketing programs to enhance exposure for all facets of the game each year.

The coalition of the American Football Coaches Association (AFCA), the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics (NACDA), the Collegiate Commissioners Association (CCA) and the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) was formed to create a single authentic entity to develop promotions and marketing strategies for college football.

It has improved, protected and preserved the sport through the financial support of an aggressive licensing program and the oversight of a board of directors that includes a representative from each of the Division I-A conferences, two individuals from all of the other NCAA-playing divisions and one person from the AFCA, NACDA and NCAA.

"NCAA Football's growth, which is virtually unparalleled in the branding industry, primarily is the result of the athletics directors, marketing and sports information directors, head football coaches and conference commissioners actively demonstrating a commitment to providing progressive support to NCAA Football promotional initiatives," said John Swofford, chair of NCAA Football and ACC commissioner.

Just some of the activities administered by NCAA Football include:

- Public Service Announcements are aired by network, cable and conference-syndicated television programming.
- Daily electronic feeds distribute interviews and action footage to networks and cable systems to promote key games.
- Features focusing on the "Good Works" of athletes are distributed to these outlets monthly.
- NCAA Football Insider is a nationally syndicated radio program featuring AFCA coaches from all NCAA divisions.
- "Quest for No. 1" is a nationally syndicated preseason football show that includes all NCAA Division I-A conferences.
- ncaafootball.com is a viewer destination with expansive audio and video streaming and interactives.
- Take A Kid To The Game promotes youth attendance and annually is sponsored by more than 200 universities.
- A "clearing-house" for research to develop quantitative data to support marketing strategies.
- Technology-advanced interactives with computer desktop and mobile phone applications.

"College football is unique," said Grant Teaff, NCAA Football treasurer and executive director of the AFCA. "Whether it's a game between the highest and lowest-ranked teams of a Division I-A conference or competition in Divisions I-AA, II or III, the outcome of that contest at any time during the season could negatively impact a team's opportunity to participate in the Bowl Championship Series, a post season game or the respective NCAA divisional championships."

NCAA Football is managed by Host Communications, Inc. in Lexington, Kentucky.

NCAA Football is the united voice of college football, where Every Game Counts.

Inside Baylor Sports

The popular Lori Scott Fogleman and John Morris return to host the seventh season of "Inside Baylor Sports", the award winning weekly TV show that covers all aspects of Baylor Athletics. Robert Shiekh is the show's senior producer.

Inside Baylor Sports live outside the RCA Dome at the women's Final Four.

"Inside Baylor Sports" provides viewers an inside look at Baylor Athletics with thorough highlights, in depth interviews, and imaginative features on all 18 sports presented in a fast-paced, entertaining style.

The program airs Sundays, September 4, 2005, through June 12, 2006, 10:30 p.m.-11:00 p.m., on KCEN-TV in Central Texas. It also airs weekly throughout the region on FSN Southwest at 1:00 p.m. CT each Wednesday beginning September 7 and nationally on CSTV. "Inside Baylor Sports" is archived on the official Baylor Athletic web site at www.BaylorTV.com.

BRUNER AND BAYLOR: A LONG-TERM TRADITION

We are proud to have over 80 years of association with Baylor University. Like Baylor, Dwain and Greg Bruner and families have built a business here on one principle – a good name to have is better than silver or gold. And it is knowing how to treat you right that has made us the success we are today.

That is why you can count on us to bring you the best selection of the best quality vehicles, and it is how we provide the best truck values in North Central Texas. We have the colors, equipment, and selection right here at Bruner Motors in Stephenville. A name to count on in a town you can believe in.

BAYLOR ALL-AMERICANS

Baylor's first football player to earn All-America honors (1921), Wesley Bradshaw, was a two-time All-SWC player who was later inducted into the Texas Sports Hall of Fame.

Daniel Sepulveda won the 2004 Ray Guy Award as the nation's top collegiate punter and earned All-America honors after ranking No. 3 nationally with his 46.0 yard average.

A 1991 All-America selection, Santana Dotson was also named the Southwest Conference's defensive player of the year.

Safety Adrian Robinson earned All-America accolades in 1995 finishing his Baylor career with 12 interceptions, five returned for touchdowns.

A two-time unanimous All-America selection for the Bears, Mike Singletary still holds the Baylor school records for career solo, assisted and total tackles.

The 1986 Jim Thorpe Award winner, Thomas Everett was a two-time All-America honoree.

BIG 12 CONFERENCE
CELEBRATING ITS 10TH SEASON

The Big 12 celebrates its 10th anniversary season of competition in 2005-06. While there have been many proud accomplishments in the first nine years of the conference, the league and its members are also excited and poised for a bright future.

Over the past nine years, 24 different teams and over 200 individuals have won NCAA Championships. This past season marked the most successful in conference history. Baylor won the crown for women's basketball, becoming the first Big 12 squad to win in that sport. Colorado won both the men's and women's cross country trophies, just the fourth school in NCAA annals to win both in the same year. Oklahoma State regained the top spot in wrestling, winning the national title for the 33rd time. Texas captured its fourth women's outdoor track & field crown, along with its sixth national championship in baseball. A total of 23 individual event titles were also claimed by the Big 12.

Eight football squads have played in BCS bowls in the last six seasons. The Big 12 leads all conferences with four appearances in the National Championship game. In basketball, an unprecedented eight men's and women's basketball teams have advanced to their respective Final Fours in the past four seasons as the Big 12 continues its place among the elite intercollegiate athletic conferences.

The Big 12 and its member institutions are committed to a competitive environment where sportsmanship and fair play take center stage. Whether on the field, in the classroom, or within the community the student-athletes, administrators, coaches and game officials of the Big 12 support the highest ideals in sportsmanship.

Competitive excellence, scholarships and sportsmanship are all equal components of the Big 12's philosophy. All-Big 12 teams and All-Big 12 Academic squads are recognized for each sport at the end of their respective seasons.

At the end of each academic year, the Conference honors its top male and female student-athletes with the Big 12 Athlete of the Year and Big 12 Sportsperson of the Year awards.

Institutions can also nominate student-athletes for the prestigious Dr. Prentice Gautt Postgraduate Scholarships at the end of each academic year. A total of 129 scholars have received more than $680,000 in postgraduate financial aid through the first eight years of the program.

The Big 12 sponsors 21 sports. Men's squads include baseball, basketball, cross country, football, golf, indoor track & field, outdoor track & field, swimming & diving, tennis and wrestling. Women's teams are fielded in basketball, cross country, golf, gymnastics, indoor track & field, outdoor track & field, soccer, softball, swimming, tennis and volleyball.

The conference is made up of 12 institutions that have shared many traditional rivalries throughout their histories. Member schools include Baylor University, University of Colorado, Iowa State University, University of Kansas, Kansas State University, University of Missouri, University of Nebraska, University of Oklahoma, Oklahoma State University, University of Texas, Texas A&M University and Texas Tech University.

The institutions created a league that encompasses seven states, over 42 million people and more than 18 million television households within its geographic footprint.

The conference conducts championships for 20 of its 21 sports. Each championship helps to determine teams and/or individuals that will represent the Conference in national postseason competition. The winner of the Big 12 football championship game earns the league's berth into the prestigious Bowl Championship Series.

The Big 12 is under the direction of its third commissioner, Kevin L. Weiberg, who took over the reigns in December 1998. Under Weiberg's guidance, the league distributed over $105 million to its member institutions for the 2004-05 academic year, nearly doubling the first allocation of $54 million in the conference's inaugural 1996-97 campaign.

Weiberg has also helped lead the Big 12 into additional football bowl agreements and expanded television opportunities for all sports through contracts with ABC/ESPN, FSN, TBS and CSTV.

The Big 12 has its headquarters in Dallas, Texas, where Weiberg and his staff administer to over 4,600 student-athletes in 21 sports.

INSTANT REPLAY GUIDE

The Big 12 Conference received approval from the NCAA Football Rules Committee for the experimental use of instant replay for the 2005 football season. Instant Replay will be used for all conference games within the Big 12. It will also be available for non-conference games with the opponents' consent. For the 2005 season, the Conference will use a version of replay similar to the experimental model employed by the Big Ten Conference last season with the following parameters:

- Personnel – Three people will be used and housed in a secured booth in the press box. They will consist of the replay official, alternate game official and technician.

- Review Initiation – This will be determined solely by the replay official. He will be assisted in the review by the alternate game official. The on-field referee may also be involved in the process through audio communication with the replay official and access to video review equipment on the sideline. A technician will assist in handling equipment and providing the actual replays for review.

- Review Protocol – The replay official will have until the ball is snapped to determine if the preceding play is reviewable. Five on-field game officials will be equipped with pagers, including the referee. These officials will be "buzzed" by the replay official to indicate a play is under review. The referee will then announce that play has been stopped for video review. The replay official will determine if there is INDISPUTABLE VIDEO EVIDENCE to overturn the call. After review of the available video evidence, he will communicate his decision to the referee for announcement and the resumption of play.

- Equipment – Technology developed by XOS will be used. All camera feeds used in the television broadcast production, or replay production in the case of non-televised games, will "feed" into the replay booth monitor. Each camera feed will be available to the replay official for review. The replay official will activate a particular camera angle for review of a play. If additional camera angles are needed to make a determination, they too may be activated.

- Production - All Conference games will utilize replay. The replay feed will be provided by the television broadcaster for all TV games. Those games not selected for telecast will be produced for replay purposes under an arrangement with FSN that will involve the use of a minimum of four cameras. Only non-conference games selected for telecast will be available for replay with the opponents' consent. The use of in-house video systems for non-conference, non-televised games will be evaluated on a case-by-case basis.

- Training – Big 12 Supervisor of Officials, Tim Millis, will coordinate the training of personnel in the use of replay. Millis will utilize at least two current NFL employees active in replay at NFL games in the training process. Fall practices and scrimmages will be utilized to test both equipment and personnel in preparation for the 2005 season.

- Cost – The estimated budget for the implementation of Instant Replay in the Big 12 is $650,000 to $700,000. This includes the purchase of all equipment, personnel costs and expenses associated with the production of non-televised games.

Under NCAA guidelines (as of June 20, 2005) the following plays are subject to review under Big 12 Instant Replay:

1. Plays governed by Sideline, Goal Line, End Zone and End Line
   a. Scoring Plays, including a runner breaking the goal line plane
   b. Pass complete/incomplete/intercepted at sideline, goal line, end zone and end line
   c. Runner/receiver in or out of bounds
   d. Recovery of loose ball in or out of bounds
2. Passing Plays
   a. Pass ruled complete/incomplete/intercepted in the field of play
   b. Touching of a forward pass by an ineligible receiver
   c. Touching of a forward pass by a defensive player
   d. Quarterback/Passer forward pass or fumble
   e. Illegal forward pass beyond the line of scrimmage
   f. Illegal forward pass after change of possession
   g. Forward or backward pass thrown from behind the line of scrimmage
3. Other Detectable Infractions
   a. Runner ruled not down by defensive contact
   b. Forward progress with respect to first down
   c. Touching of a kick
   d. Number of players on field
4. Timing
   a. Clock operation
   b. Play clock operation

The following are examples of plays that are not reviewable:

1. Holding
2. Offsides
3. Pass interference
4. Personal fouls/late hits
5. Illegal blocks
6. Illegal formations
7. Face mask
8. taunting/excessive celebration
9. False starts
10. Roughing passer/kicker
11. Fighting participants

In the anticipation of implementing replay for this season, Big 12 staff reviewed over 14,000 plays from games involving conference teams last season. Of those plays, it was determined that 36 were reviewable, and that of those 36, nine would have been overturned.

THE BIG 12 CONFERENCE

Since its inception in 1996, the Big 12 Conference has quickly established itself as one of the nation's elite football leagues. Consider that...

- The 2004 season marked the second consecutive and fourth time in the last five years that a Big 12 team played in the BCS National Championship game. Big 12 institutions have combined to win 17 national championships on the gridiron.
- The Big 12 leads all conferences with four appearances in the BCS National Championship game.
- The Big 12 has placed five or more teams in bowl games every season since it began with six or more programs earning a bowl invitation seven times in the league's nine-year history. In 2004, the Big 12 went 4-3 in bowl games and was one of three conferences to post a winning record in postseason play.
- Eight of the 17 national college football awards in 2004 went to recipients from the Big 12 Conference, including the Ray Guy Award, which was given to Baylor's Daniel Sepulveda.
- The Big 12 Conference will celebrate its 10th anniversary during the 2005-06 academic year.
- Featuring the conference's top teams from the South and North Divisions, the 2005 Big 12 Championship Game will be played Dec. 3 at Reliant Stadium in Houston, Texas.
- National television coverage is routine in the Big 12 as the league has agreements with ABC, Fox Sports Net and TBS Superstation.

Kiri Josephson, Junior, Austin

While many Baylor students end up blazing unfamiliar trails, vocal music major Kiri Josephson plans to follow the path prepared by her father — all the way to the New York opera.

Raised 30 miles from New York City in Fair Lawn, N.J., Josephson grew watching her dad perform in the Metropolitan Opera.

"I have wanted to be an opera singer since the time I could talk," she said. "I went to my first opera when I was five, and ever since then I have grown in my love for music. Now I go to to New York over the semester breaks to see my dad perform, and those same tears flood my 20-year-old eyes because I am totally involved with the music."

Josephson hopes to become an opera singer herself after she graduates from Baylor in May 2008.

"I know that the life of a singer is crazy, but the dream is there and it just won't go away," she said.

Her parents have Texas roots, and Josephson said that played a part in choosing Baylor as the place to puruse her dream.

"I came to Baylor to study music and seek the Lord in an encouraging environment," she said. "I was excited to meet new people and focus on developing as a singer."

Josephson has taken full advantage of Baylor's musical opportunities. She is in Baylor's Concert Choir, Alpha Chi Omega's Angel Choir and the praise and worship band at Antioch Community Church. Last year she took part in the Baylor Opera Theatre production of Mozart's "The Magic Flute."

During her freshman year, Josephson stayed busy as chaplain of the Freshman Leadership Organization and as a freshman representative in student government. Last year she was a Community Leader for the women's Leadership Living-Learning Center. She also is a member of the sorority Alpha Chi Omega and has performed in All University Sing.

"Every activity that I am involved in has helped me immensely," Josephson said. "I have learned so much about myself and others. With each experience I have grown as an individual."

That's one of the many reasons why Josephson is pleased with her college selection.

"Above all, the things that I cherish about Baylor University are the relationships I have made," she said. "Being able to walk with other men and women who have similar desires and are truly trying to keep God first has been amazing! I am excited to see what the future years will bring."

David Gladney, Junior, Cypress

As a double major in international business and finance with a minor in Spanish, David Gladney likes to travel and to experience other cultures, especially the Hispanic culture.

However, he isn't waiting until he graduates to make a difference. Gladney uses his Spanish skills to impact those around him at Baylor. As a member of the cabinet of the Student Government External Vice President, he helped establish Learning English Among Friends, an English as a Second Language community outreach program in which students tutor area adults.

Gladney's passion for Hispanic culture was ignited on a mission trip to Honduras, and since then he also has traveled to Argentina, Mexico and Canada. His six-week stay in Argentina was through the Baylor in Argentina program.

When not busy working in student government, Gladney is involved in Antioch Community Church, where he leads a Lifegroup and tutors a fourth grade student through the church's STARS (Students Teaching And Reaching Students) program.

"I have learned so much outside of the classroom since I came to Baylor and have been completely transformed as a result," he said. "I have learned the value of community and have been challenged to grow in love for Jesus and for other people, even above my own interests."

Gladney enjoys the people he's met in Waco.

"What I enjoy and appreciate most is the community of friends that I've made," he said. "The relationships that I've made here have really impacted my life."

After graduation in May 2007, Gladney is considering several possibilities.

"I might want to do business overseas or work for a firm here in the United States that I get to go and represent abroad," he said.

Big 12 CONFERENCE
since 1996

CELEBRATING 10 YEARS

When planning began for the Big 12's 10th anniversary year, a major objective was to celebrate the tradition and equity that the conference has established since 1996 while building an innovative, yet timeless, family of branding marks for the future.

The new set of anniversary logos has enhanced the family of marks of the Big 12 member institutions, its corporate partners, and licensees. The new primary logo (featured below) is the key logo, which all others compliment. The "XII" is the central focus. It is the primary identifying characteristic of the conference.

Two collective marks have been created that speak to the Conference as a whole with all 12 member institutions included. One of these marks includes the logos while the other features word marks. In this same plan are sport specific and championship marks for the 10-year anniversary, and some of these include presenting or title sponsors (i.e., Dr Pepper, 7 Up, Phillips 66, SBC, Chick-Fil-A, Cooper Tire, Gatorade).

There also has been development of co-branded university and Big 12 logos by using the primary mark and developing a set of primary marks specific to each of the 12 members. One version has just the logos present while another set mentions the word marks (example: Baylor Bears).

There were three primary schools of though as the Big 12 10-Year Anniversary Committee made the decisions about new logos and other amenities to promote the league.

(1) The conference decided to create a new visual design for the member institutions that projected a good public image for both the Big 12 and the individual campus' overall missions. This has helped create a better awareness for the Big 12 regionally and nationally. All the new logos also are in prime positions on the official Big 12 Web site (www.Big12sports.com) and the official Web sites of the members.

(2) The current Big 12 mark was introduced to the public in 1996. Over the several years it has become apparent that there was a need for a new look to continue to enhance the overall conference image. The new family of marks has helped the conference keep current in the collegiate marketplace. These logos also offered the member universities a more direct association to the Conference. It has provided a way to structure the Conference corporate partners' associate with the member institutions without compromising existing university relationships. Finally, it provided Big 12 licensees a more production friendly set of marks that allow both the licensees and retailers to be more creative and has given fans having more product options in the marketplace.

(3) The introduction of new family of logos has elevated the conference's identity program. The logos have been a symbolic way to display enthusiasm for the Big 12 Conference and for its member institutions while maintaining the look of the traditional logos that reflect upon the proud history and tradition of the Conference and its member institutions.

What is your best Baylor football memory?
"Beating Texas A&M last year. It had been so long and we had just lost a tough game the week before to Iowa State by one point. There was a question as to whether we were going to get any Big 12 wins because we still had a tough schedule left. That was a really big win."

What are your future plans?
"I'm going to try and give football a shot with the NFL. If that doesn't work out, I will be happy to go to law school and move on."

What have you learned from playing football that you will carry with you into your profession?
"The popular thing isn't always the right thing. When you are a leader you have to do things sometimes that put your popularity in danger or upset some people; but, if it's the better thing for the organization as a whole, you have to do it. It's a tough thing to do because you don't want to upset people; but, leadership positions require that."

Who in the football program has made the greatest impact on your life?
"Coach Goodner; he's really sick right now. He was my coach the first year when Coach Morriss came in and Coach Goodner really lifted me up and lifted a lot of guys up and made me realize that football was fun again. The things he taught me I'm still using today and he also taught me a lot about life. Football is a game and you can move on from football, wins and losses aren't the only important thing; but, rather, to put God and family first."

How has your Baylor education prepared you for your future?
"I think I've been really well prepared. I think, especially as a football player, I've always been around a lot of diversity and I've learned how to study, to work hard and I've learned how to manage my time. Sometimes when you have to come to practice late at night and you have a test the next day, you're tired but you have to bite the bullet and study. That happens sometimes in work also and you just have to get through it. I have learned a lot from Baylor."

Willie ANDREWS

OS ■ 5-10 ■ 189 ■ Longview, Texas

What are your future plans?
"I plan to enter the NFL draft in April; and, after that, just come back here and finish up school."

What will you miss most about Baylor?
"My teammates, being here, they're all that I've had and I can really count on them. I'm really going to miss these guys."

What have you learned from playing football that you will carry with you into your profession?
"It has taught me that life is hard. Even when it looks good, there's going to be some adversity that comes. Even when you are winning, you might get hurt or you might fight an injury. It has just taught me that adversity is going to come but you've just got to work through it."

How has your Baylor education prepared you for your future?
"It had given me a broad range of abilities. I can go out and get a variety of different jobs and different positions just off of my Baylor communications degree. Baylor has opened doors for me that no other school could offer."

Where do you see Baylor football in five years?
"At the top of the Big 12. This year is really going to set the tone and make us a big name in the conference. But, how we continue to grow depends on how these next classes come up and continue to improve. I think we will be at the top of the Big 12 in the near future."

J FIELDS

WR ■ 6-3 ■ 204 ■ Amarillo, Texas

What are your future plans?
"I plan on starting my master's in the spring and finishing up next spring or summer and then applying for law school."

What will you miss most about Baylor?
"The guys, being out here, you pretty much have 125 brothers and when you are away for a month or so, you realize how much you miss that and how you depend on those people to get you through the day."

What have you learned from playing football that you will carry with you into your profession?
"Hard work. Also, everything is broken down into little things and everyone works together so it teaches you a lot about teamwork."

Who inside the football program has made the greatest impact on your life?
"Multiple people, ever since Big John (Williams) came here he has had an effect on everything I've done. Coach Jackson has also helped me out with a lot of things I needed work on. The whole coaching staff has helped me out."

How has your Baylor education prepared you for your future?
"I was a telecommunications major and that was really hands-on. Now, I'm doing marketing and sports management and that is also hands-on. I'm a hands-on guy, so I like that approach a lot and I think that it is going to help me out a bunch. Mix in football with that and all the hard work and preparation correlates with real life and hard work."

The state of the football program has changed drastically since your freshman year. How much ownership does this senior class take in being a part of that change?
"We've always had great leaders. We were a little off on the approach that we took and now we take ownership of the team. When we finally realized that it was our responsibility to take ownership of the team, things turned around and now we are 4-1."

Lee CHANDLER

WR ■ 6-1 ■ 184 ■ Plano, Texas

What is your best Baylor football memory?
"When the coaches decided to put me on scholarship. It was an unreal experience that I can't really describe."

What are your future plans?
"I'm getting my master's in biology and I want to do molecular genetics."

What have you learned from playing football that you will carry with you into your profession?
"Hard work and perseverance."

What will you miss most about Baylor?
"My teammates, especially Jonathan Sisk and Damon Dotson."

Who in the football program has made the greatest impact on your life?
"Coach Jackson and John Williams. They've taught me the importance of hard work and work ethic."

Where do you see Baylor football in five years?
"One of the top contenders in the Big 12 Conference."

Where do you see yourself in 10 years?
"Hopefully, making a lot of money doing beneficial molecular genetics work."

Tyler LINDSTROM

OS ■ 6-2 ■ 196 ■ Lincoln, Neb.

What is your best Baylor football memory?
"Without question, leading our team onto the field up in Lincoln, Neb., at Memorial Stadium last season."

What are your future plans?
"To move back to Nebraska and work for my father who manages Morgan Stanley offices in Nebraska and be a part of the Lindstrom team. Working with my brother and my dad, probably for the rest of my life."

Who outside the football program has made the greatest impact on your life?
"My dad, without question, my mom is a big supporter too, she's at every game; but, my dad, getting talked into letting my brother and I play football at a young age and then really focusing on being there and always supporting us through every athletic event. He was always there and even coached us as young players. He's a great role model in general and just the best man I've ever met in my life. The one thing that I learned from my dad that has really stuck with me is just to never quit."

How has your Baylor education prepared you for your future?
"The work ethic. It's mentally tough and strenuous at times, but you have to invest a lot of work in your classes to reap all the benefits. You can't take the easy way out at Baylor University. It just makes you develop a strong work ethic."

Where do you see yourself in 10 years?
"I want to be married and raise a family, two or three kids, two boys and a girl, live in Omaha on acreage outside of the city and be a part of the Lindstrom group with my father and brother until we the company. After that, I plan to pretty much live on a yacht the rest of my life."

Shaun ROCHON

WR ■ 5-9 ■ 186 ■ Houston, Texas

What is your best Baylor football memory?
"My punt return for 85 yards (and a TD) against Samford."

What have you learned from playing football that you will carry with you into your profession?
"Just to persevere and meet every challenge head on."

Who in the football program has made the greatest impact on your life?
"He's not here anymore; but, (former graduate assistant coach) Scott Parr. He is the reason I decided to attend Baylor. We had a lot of conversation back and forth and that is how I ended up transferring here and earning a scholarship."

Outside of the football program?
"My mom, definitely. The example that she has set, being able to overcome and making sure that when things were going wrong, she was a pillar of strength in our family."

How has your Baylor education prepared you for your future?
"When you are in an academically hostile environment with high standards, you have a choice to either give up and walk away or to rise to the occasion and I have had to rise to the occasion in order to stay here. The emphasis on academics is so important here that it takes precedence over everything else that you do. So, it helps me to know that whenever I am met with an obstacle that seems difficult, I can rise to the occasion and not give up and walk away."

Where do you see Baylor football in five years?
"If we continue on this path, we'll be ranked in the top 25 and contending for not only a Big 12 championship; but, major bowls and quite possibly a national championship."

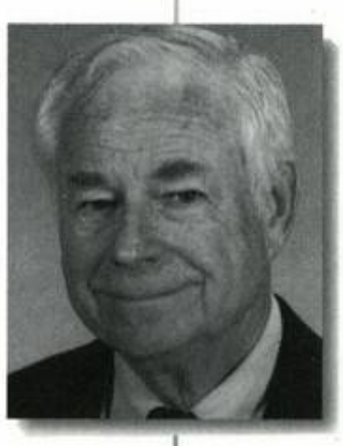
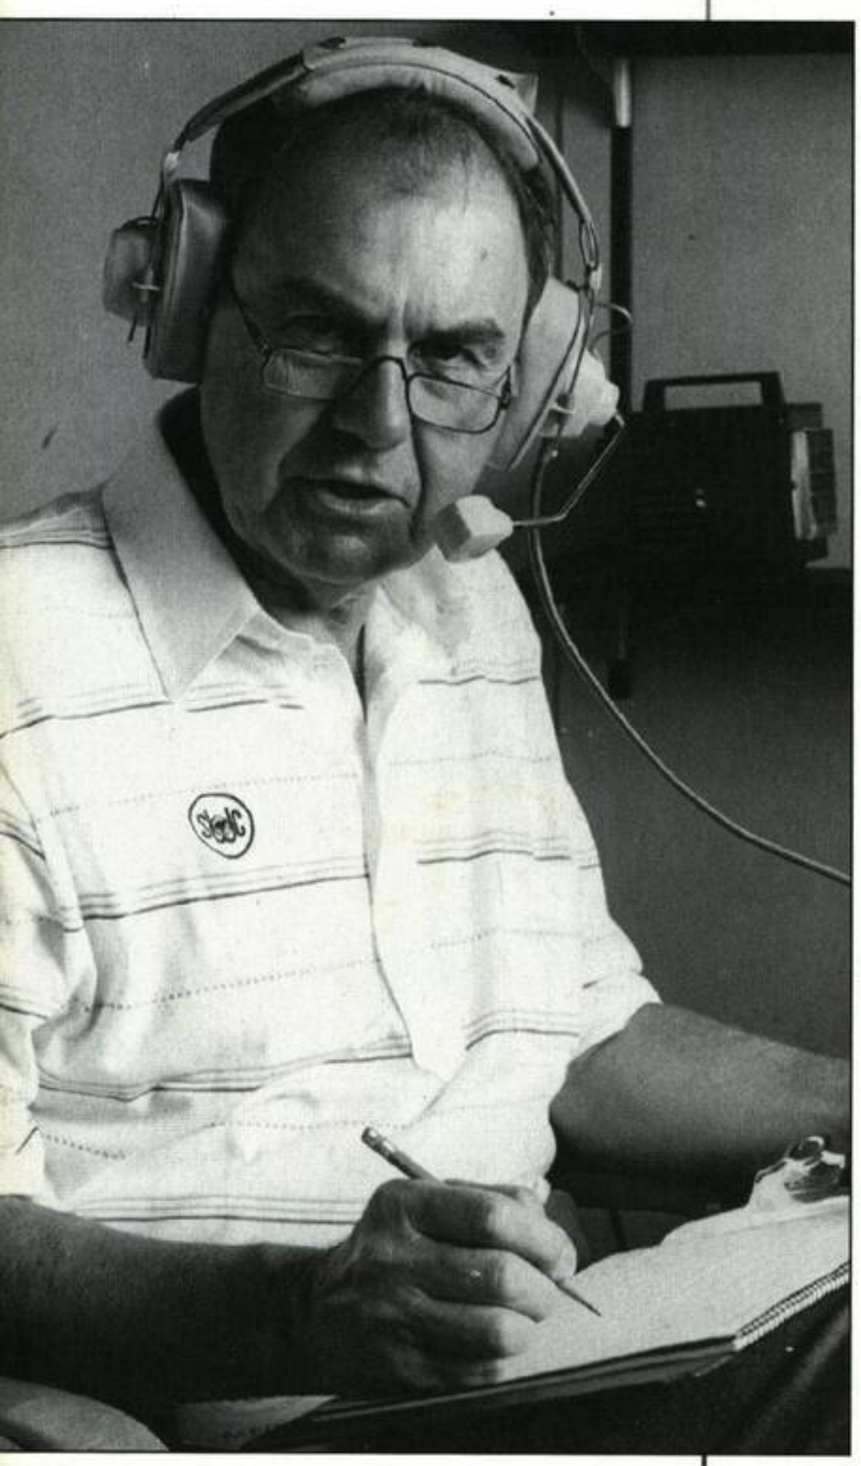
TEXAS GIANTS

by JERRY HILL



Dave CAMPBELL



Frank FALLON

The fact is, any town or university would count itself extremely lucky to have a media icon like Dave Campbell or Frank Fallon in its midst. Waco and Baylor have been doubly blessed. And, by association, so have I.

It's fitting that Campbell and Fallon will be inducted into the Texas Sports Hall of Fame together as part of the inaugural media class — an all-star lineup of Texas' finest that also includes writers Dan Jenkins, Mickey Herskowitz and Blackie Sherrod and broadcasters Jack Dale, Kern Tips and Verne Lundquist.

The induction ceremony will be held Oct. 18 in Houston.

Dave and Frank, forever linked with Baylor, were the pen and voice of the Bears from 1953 until Frank's retirement in 1995. Forty-two wonderful years.

Although Dave retired as the Waco Tribune-Herald sports editor in '93, he still is writing his prose as editor of Dave Campbell's Baylor Bear Insider Report. Fallon, who was diagnosed with Parkinson's in '94, was a regular at Baylor events until he died April 30, 2004.

While Campbell had a loyal readership at the Tribune-Herald, his legacy was built as founder and longtime editor of Texas Football Magazine.

It's amazing to think of Dave, longtime associate Hollis Biddle and their families putting together "The Bible" on a kitchen table at the Campbell house. But that's how it all started in 1960.

Nobody, before or since, has put together such a comprehensive magazine that covers the pros, colleges and especially high schools in the state of Texas. Which everybody knows is the best place in the world for football.

Hired by the Tribune-Herald in 1983, I was intimidated by the mere thought of working under such a legend. But what I found out very quickly is that he's as genuine and humble as he is great.

I treasure the 10 years that I worked under Dave, learning from one of the best in the business and hanging on every word from the king of story tellers.

And more than anything, I cherish the friendship of Dave and his wife, Reba. What a wonderful couple and example for the rest of us to follow.

While Dave grew up in Waco and has never left, Frank was a native of San Antonio who made Waco his home for life.

Fallon was a tender 23 years old when he was hired by KWTX radio in 1953, becoming the "Voice of the Bears" for basketball that same year and adding football two years later. He was the radio play-by-play announcer for both until he retired.

Frank also was recognized across the nation as the "Voice of the Final Four," serving as the public-address announcer for the NCAA men's basketball championships for 26 years.

Although I wasn't as close to Frank, I had a great respect for his talent, expertise and professionalism. As a broadcasting minor in college, I could appreciate his incredibly rich voice and how unbelievably good he was at the trade he loved.

Dave and Frank also were named to the Texas High School Football Hall of Fame and won enough professional honors and lifetime achievement awards to fill a house.

And no matter what they wrote in the newspaper or said over the airwaves, they always loved Baylor.

Congratulations to two of the best ever.

— Jerry Hill serves as assistant sports editor and Baylor football beat writer for the Waco Tribune-Herald
